Russian Drive In 100 Miles Of Smolensk

Reds Advance Over Bodies of Frozen Germans; Rout Spreads.

By EDDY GILMORE.
MOSCOW, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The Russians drove closer to vital Smolensk over the bodies of frozen Germans tonight, while along the vast Ukraine front the Nazis tried desperately to stay the onrushing Soviets under Marshal Semion Timoshenko.

Far behind the Germans' snow-piled fighting lines, great Soviet bombers struck savagely at communication lines over which Adolf Hitler was rushing troops from the overrun and hungry nations of Europe.

Vital German railway junctions were bombed by Red fliers who were credited with destruction of at least three supply trains and upward of 200 freight cars.

The central front push was developing into a flanking attack on Smolensk from the Kirov region. In weather 40 degrees below zero (Fahrenheit) the warmly clad Russians found it difficult to keep up with the backtracking Germans.

Frontal pressure continued from the direction of Mzhaisk, but the Reds appeared to be concentrating in a wide sector some 80 miles south.

The Russians were moving from old Kozelsk, where Tolstoy once lived, and many liberated villages stood unburned so fast did the Germans retreat. Usually they have taken time to apply the torch.

This drive swept the Soviets beyond Moshovsk, Serpentsk and Sukhinichi along roads and forest trails blotted out by the ice and snow. The fingers of the drive clutched within 100 miles of Smolensk.

County Schools Adopt 9:30 Opening Hour

Banks Also Decide To Start Business at 9:30.

Fulton county board of education yesterday announced opening of schools in the county system will be moved up to 9:30 o'clock in the morning when "war time" becomes effective Monday.

At the same time, the Atlanta Clearing House Association announced banks will open at 9:30 o'clock in the morning under the new time.

The opening hour for the county schools was changed, it was said, because, had the schools kept the old hours, children would have to go to school in the dark and electricity would be wasted instead of saved.

It was previously announced that city schools will open at 9:15 o'clock, instead of 8:45 o'clock, beginning February 9.

DeKalb county schools will set their opening time to correspond with the Decatur schools, it was said. Decatur school officials had not decided last night as to what will be their opening hour.

Closing time for the Fulton county schools will be 3 o'clock for the elementary schools and 3:15 and 3:30 for high schools, according to the wishes of the faculty of each high school. The county board decided to continue to operate its schools five days a week, in order to be able to close the

How You Can Overcome That Sinking Feeling

Unless you are Superman, one of his girl friends, you have at one time or another experienced that sick and sinking sensation that comes when you discover you have lost something—something you treasured highly, for sentimental or material reasons.

And, of course, you also know the high elation you feel when you are lucky enough to find the lost treasure. The lady who lost her wrist watch a day or so ago, and found it through a Want Ad in The Constitution, is just one example out of hundreds who have justifiably trusted this newspaper to bring them that great and satisfying relief.

Japs Rain Fire On Singapore as Fury Increases

Fourth Day of Siege Finds Enemy Massed Across Strait.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
SINGAPORE, Feb. 3.—The Japanese invading columns, expanding by the hour as reinforcements marched endlessly down through southern Malaya, still stood silent before Johore strait today while enemy bombers cast fire and explosive over Singapore in violent raids apparently heralding an imminent attempt to force the strait with troops.

This, the fourth day of the siege, brought no action of consequence against the British land defenses forming a 70-mile perimeter—but from dawn onward Singapore itself fought off heavy attacks from the air.

The governor of the straits settlement, Sir Shenton Thomas, worked in his shirt sleeves with other civilians to help put out the leaping flames set off by squadron after squadron of enemy planes.

In the great camaraderie of crisis, the imperial military commander, Lieutenant General A. E. Percival, set a similar example by personally helping in fire defense work.

Despite the fury of the enemy's raids, in which both high-level and dive bombers came over to drop their thunderous loads, the afternoon communique of the British command announced that military casualties had been slight.

The offensive arm of the RAF was striking back; in overnight raids the Japanese-held Malayan airbase at Kluang was bombed and Japanese motor transport was attacked along the jungle roads.

In a broadcast directed especially to the Australian forces in the Pacific, the British command said:

5,000 at Auditorium Hear Mrs. Roosevelt

By HAROLD MARTIN.
Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt last night told an audience of more than 5,000 that packed the city auditorium to the topmost balcony that the problem of national defense begins at home and its burden falls more heavily upon the housewife and the mother than upon anyone else.

Such prosaic things as nutrition and child care, she said, seem to have little bearing upon the more dramatic features of all-out war—the blackout and the bomb—but healthy children who eat what they should, get plenty of sleep, and above all, mind as they should, stand up better than others under the stress of air raids.

The creation of a race with minds tough enough to tackle any problem and conquer it, with bodies healthy and rugged enough to stand any physical hardship that war might impose, she said, was the first duty of a people engaged in all-out war.

She named six things in order of their importance, which, in wartime and in peace, are essential to the creation of a race that will survive no matter what powerful enemies come against it. They were the proper feeding and decent housing of all the people, the provision of adequate medical care for all who need it, particular attention to the nutrition needs of the school child, recreation to harden the bodies of young and old and public forums in which difficult and controversial problems can be attacked by agile and questing minds.

Speaking without notes in an address which touched upon all aspects of the defense program, she said:

Egypt Fears Invasion By Locust Swarms

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Egypt is threatened by invasion. Swarms of locusts have been seen in the vicinity of the Red sea and authorities have appealed to the British and Egyptian air forces to co-operate in reporting any of the insects over Egyptian territory.

Nazis Again Restrict Civilian Rail Travel

BERN, Switzerland, Feb. 3.—(AP)—For the second time in less than three weeks Germany has imposed restrictions on civilian railway travel in order to release every possible piece of rolling stock in a tremendous effort to transport fresh supplies of men and arms to the eastern front.

LAURENCE S. KUTER
From Captain to General at 36.

Flying Captain, 36, Is Made General

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A fast-moving young staff officer of the Army air forces, now a temporary lieutenant colonel whose permanent rank is captain, has been selected by President Roosevelt for advancement over hundreds of senior officers to the temporary rank of brigadier general.

He is Laurence S. Kuter, now 36. Confirmation of his promotion, sent to the senate yesterday by the President, would make him the youngest general officer in the Army.

Detailed to the Air Corps in 1927, Kuter attended the flying schools at Brooks and Kelly fields, Texas, and then went to Langley Field, Va.

He reached his present permanent rank of captain in June, 1937. A temporary promotion to major came December 30, 1940, and another temporary promotion to lieutenant colonel less than a month ago. He is now on special duty in the war plans division.

American Torpedo Boat Assaults Jap Ship in Manila Bay

Naval Tanker, U. S. S. Neches, Is Sunk By Enemy Submarine Attack; 56 in Crew Missing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A battalion of Marines and Bluejackets is fighting side by side with General Douglas MacArthur's hard-pressed men on Batan peninsula, the Navy announced tonight, and an American motor torpedo boat has torpedoed a Japanese warship in Manila bay.

Making these disclosures, the Navy also revealed that one of its tankers, the U. S. S. Neches, a 5,400-ton craft, had been sunk in an undesignated area by an enemy submarine. Fifty-six men have not been accounted for, it said, but 126 are safe at an unnamed port.

The department's statement followed the issuance of an Army communique which revealed that MacArthur's fighting men repulsed two Jap attempts to land behind his lines on Batan peninsula last night and that an American counter-attack had overrun three lines of enemy trenches.

No Details Given.
The Navy gave no details about the Bluejackets and Marines now fighting with MacArthur, simply stating that they had been organized into a battalion and were doing battle with the Japs. They presumably consist of several hundred men.

There was speculation that these forces may have been left behind MacArthur's lines when the Japanese evacuated the island. The Japanese original Batan line encompassed the secondary naval station at Olongapo on Subic bay.

The attack on a Japanese warship in Manila bay was another chapter in the growing record of the accomplishments of the Navy's powerful little motor torpedo boats, which skim over the wave crests at 70 to 80 miles per hour, loose their torpedoes and zig-zag away, counting upon their speed to prevent accurate hits by enemy guns.

Revelation.
It also was the first announcement of an enemy warship succeeding in running the gauntlet of fixed island fortifications, whose big guns command the entrance to the bay. No mention was made of how the Japanese vessel succeeded in getting inside.

The attack occurred at night and, "although under heavy fire and heavy casualties among the men," the Japanese force suffered heavy casualties among the men. On the following morning a number of disabled barges were found along the beaches. Some of these were burning and others were adrift. None of the invading group reached shore.

At the other side of the peninsula, on the right of the MacArthur line, meanwhile, American and Filipino troops were counter-attacking with great success. Previously, the Japanese 65th division, under General Nara, had attempted to "drive a wedge" into the defending forces by a frontal assault.

By the counter-attack, MacArthur's men over-ran three lines of Japanese trenches, and captured a considerable store of enemy war equipment.

Atlanta Promised Warmer Weather

Warmer weather is promised Atlantans today by Glen Jefferson, official weather forecaster.

The thermometer started climbing yesterday morning after having touched 24 early in the morning. The high, reached during the late midafternoon, was 44.

Million - Dollar Waterworks Extension Seen

Project Would Supply Marietta, Proposed Bomber Plant.

A $1,000,000 extension of the Atlanta waterworks department to provide a water supply for Marietta and the Bell Aircraft Corporation's proposed manufacturing plant near Marietta was projected yesterday after a conference between Mayor LeCraw, of Atlanta, and Mayor L. M. (Rip) Blair, of Marietta.

Marietta will consume a minimum of 20,000,000 gallons of water a month, and officials of the aircraft plant told the mayor last week the plant will use 10,000,000 gallons a month exclusive of any housing developments which may follow the location of the plant in that area.

The agreement to the Atlanta extension hinges on the approval of the mayors and councils of Marietta and Atlanta, but it was decided during the conference yesterday that a proposal to extend the Atlanta system to connect with Marietta will be made regardless of whether the bomber plant is located there or not.

W. Zode Smith, general manager of the Atlanta waterworks, estimated the cost of the development at $1,000,000, and proposed construction of a new filter plant on the banks of the Chattahoochee river to avoid having to pump water to the new system from the Hemphill pumping station.

Senate Votes $15,000 Free War Risk Policy for All in Nation

RFC Finances Also Swelled By New Action

Premiums To Be Charged for Coverage Above Figures in Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A $1,000,000,000 insurance fund—expected to ease the minds of nervous citizens who fear enemy bombs may blast their homes and property—won speedy senate approval today.

Senators voted the $1,000,000,000 fund and added another $2,500,000,000 to it in increased borrowing authority for the government's Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Senator Maloney, Democrat, Connecticut, floor leader for the broad-term wartime legislation, explained that damages up to $15,000 for an individual, corporation, or local government would be provided without cost.

Premium Provision. He said that premiums may be charged for coverage above $15,000 under details to be worked out by the War Damage Corporation, RFC subsidiary set up shortly after the surprise Japanese attacks.

Noting that property owners were setting a "free ride" on damages from enemy attacks, Senator La Follette, Progressive, Wisconsin, suggested that the next thing congress should consider would be similar free insurance for the men in uniform who must meet payments from pay as low as $21 monthly.

Senator Pepper, Democrat, Florida, proposed that a survey of possible insurance for injury to, or loss of life by civilians be included in the measure, but Maloney asserted that such a study could best be made separately and by a congressional committee.

The $3,500,000,000 measure now goes to the house where an early agreement is anticipated.

Details To Be Worked Out. Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, told the committee many details of the program must be solved later. He "guessed" that compensation probably would be limited to about 75 per cent of the adjusted value of homes or properties and said these adjustments probably would be made by professionals now working for private insurance companies which do not cover war risks.

As approved by the senate, the free insurance would not cover accounts, bills, currency, debts, evidence of debt, money, notes, securities, paintings and other objects of art.

SHE'LL BE NUMBER 6—Tommy Manville is shown last night in New York drinking a toast with 23-year-old Madge Lowe, of Toronto, after he announced they would be married April 9, his 48th birthday. Although his current flame, like five predecessors, is a blonde, Tommy explained this marriage would be different from the others in that he was going to settle down and make this match stick.

Whatamanville To Wed 'Sixth And Last' Time

Tommy to 'Settle Down' on 48th Birthday With Blonde, 23.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Tommy Manville announced today that (1) he was going to marry again—for the sixth time—and (2) he was going to settle down and stay married.

The asbestos heir whose last marriage (to Bonita Edwards) hit the rocks after 17 whirlwind days, introduced blonde (they've all been blonde) 23-year-old Madge Lowe, of Toronto, and said he and she would take the step April 9, his 48th birthday.

Manville, she said, waited until today to ask her mother's permission had been upmost in their minds since they met six weeks ago.

Laurens County B. T. U. To Meet Near Dexter
SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
DUBLIN, Ga., Feb. 3.—The Laurens county B. T. U. association conference will meet Wednesday at Mount Carmel church, near Dexter.

Two sessions will be held, at 3 p. m. and 7 p. m. Members of the Mount Carmel B. T. U. will serve supper to those attending.

At the evening session, an award will be made to the church having the highest percentage of its membership present.

E. C. Jarrard is associational director of the Laurens County Baptist Training Unions.

Paper Urges Naming Dam for MacArthur

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 3.—(AP)—A proposal that the Tennessee Valley Authority's newest national defense power project be named in honor of General Douglas MacArthur was made today to President Roosevelt by the Knoxville Journal.

At present the project, a $30,000,000 dam on the French Broad river near Dandridge, Tenn., is referred to by TVA engineers as "Douglas Dam," stemming from a name applied to nearby bluffs.

The injured, Robert F. Turner, an aviation school operator, and Captain J. E. Hines, an attorney, received treatment at Emory hospital, then launched plans for returning the plane to Spartanburg, W. L. Sims and Lieutenant Robert Blackburn, passengers in the plane, were not injured.

Turner told DeKalb County Patrolmen C. M. Cloud and C. M. Fisher a rod in the engine broke, spattered over the windshield, partially blinded him as he made the landing, he added.

persons live, is one of the most important trade centers in the Netherlands East Indies as well as a strong naval base. It is one of the main Japanese objectives in the push down Macassar strait off eastern Borneo.

That Japanese push, as far as is known here, has not succeeded in gaining any footholds south of Balikpapan, some 450 miles north of eastern Java. Another Japanese thrust down the western coast of Borneo has reached Pontianak, about the same distance by air from Batavia across the Java sea.

The latest American successes against the Macassar sea column were gained in two bombing forays against ships off Balikpapan, the fourth communique of the United Nations' high command said.

The brief announcement was the first to tell of major Japanese losses in the strait since the four-day battle from January 23 to January 26 in which at least 32 and perhaps as many as 46 Japanese ships were sunk or heavily damaged.

Allied planes also shot down nine more Japanese planes, losing one of their own, the Allied command announced, and a Dutch airplane knocked down a tenth.

Meetings will be held in Antioch church on Tuesday and Friday nights of each week, and meetings will be held at Baker school under supervision of W. L. Eubanks, apprentice vocational teacher at Rentz.

Te meetings at each place will begin at 7:30 o'clock, and all farmers interested are asked to attend. Farmers will be given an opportunity to discuss their problems as they affect the peanut program and growing of more food crops, and the sessions should prove of much value to them, it was stated.

MANY REGISTER.
GRIFFIN, Ga., Feb. 3.—Spalding county reported a total of 4,097 enrolled in civilian defense work to the state headquarters. This number, which included 3,026 white registrants and 1,071 Negro registrants, was through Monday afternoon and further registrations were being noted. A quota of 3,000 volunteer workers for the Spalding county defense setup had been planned for this county by state officials.

2 Hurt in Plane Forced Down in Lithonia Field

2 Passengers Uninjured in Mishap to Carolina Pilot Group.

Two Spartanburg, S. C., aviators were slightly injured yesterday afternoon, and two other aviators escaped injury when a privately owned four-passenger plane made a forced landing in a field near Lithonia, Ga. The plane was damaged.

The injured, Robert F. Turner, an aviation school operator, and Captain J. E. Hines, an attorney, received treatment at Emory hospital, then launched plans for returning the plane to Spartanburg, W. L. Sims and Lieutenant Robert Blackburn, passengers in the plane, were not injured.

Army To Take Men Having Minor Defects

Every One To Be Given Place, Hershey Declares.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Plans to draw from vast reservoirs of untapped strength—men with dependents and those suffering from minor physical defects—to build up the nation's fighting forces were disclosed today by Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service.

Solemnly, he cautioned congress that all available manpower must be budgeted as carefully as appropriations, and balanced, too, between the needs of the armed forces and the requirements of industry and agriculture for producing essential food and weapons.

He appeared before a special house committee studying displacement of industrial workers and concentrating now on mustering man power for the war effort, and said flatly that the war required that every man must be put "in the place where he can render the maximum effort."

The Selective Service head told newsmen that drafting of labor at some future date was "possible."

Hershey made it clear that: 1. Army standards "inevitably" will be lowered as the need for manpower developed, and predicted that those with minor defects would be taken in for limited service "by the hundred thousands."

2. The War Department was working out allowance and allotment legislation, which, "if enacted in proper form, will release for induction many registrants, now deferred on the grounds of dependency." He said, however, that dependency would remain "an outstanding condition of deferment."

He served notice that social diseases would soon be stricken from the list of reasons for deferment. And he disclosed also that Selective Service had drafted the first follow-up questionnaire to those already registered, to keep the government posted on any change of status.

Japs Rain Fire On Singapore As Fury Grows

Singapore, the Australian Army minister, Francis M. Forde, declared without elaboration: "A big movement of the Allies is under way."

Every hour that Singapore held out, he added, was permitting the concentration and deployment of more Allied reinforcements. Thus, he said, "it does not need my words to impel you to hold on."

A Japanese military spokesman in Tokyo announced that the general offensive against Singapore fortress would soon be loosed.

In Chungking, the Chinese Army spokesman reported that the Japanese 16th Division had been all but wiped out at Johore Bahru, across the strait from Singapore, and that 10,000 Japanese bodies already had arrived in Indo-China.

This was offered as a mere token of the tremendous loss of life everywhere expected to be suffered by the invader if he goes through with the plan to storm Singapore frontally.

This morning's first air attack on Singapore was delivered by low-level bombers which hit the outlying districts, but were beaten back by vigorous antiaircraft fire.

Near noon, action still was rising—this time by formations of twin-engine bombers high aloft.

By afternoon, heavy smoke and cloud banks were suffering raiders' targets to some extent.

School Activities To Be Suspended
SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
WAYCROSS, Ga., Feb. 3.—The Eighth District High School Association, not so much because of war conditions, but partially because of slackening interest, has decided to suspend its district debates, spelling contest, one-act play contests, tennis matches, the district track meet, and district literary meet which included various events.

The district meet has been an event of long standing in south Georgia, but waning interest has been apparent for several years, it was pointed out by school leaders at a meeting of the district association here.

It was decided to conduct basketball tournaments as usual, and the district music festival also will be held.

SCOUT LEADER RENAMED.
VALDOSTA, Ga., Feb. 3.—Wilbur J. Loos, golf professional at the Valdosta Country Club, and Boy Scout enthusiast, has been renamed chairman of the American Legion state committee on Boy Scouts. The appointment was announced today by Guy O. Stone, commander of the Georgia department of the American Legion.

Effort of Every Child Needed To Win War, First Lady Says

Women Must Harden Themselves To Shoulder Man's Work in Factories and Shops, Mrs. Roosevelt Tells Atlanta.

By YOLANDE GWIN.
A child's responsibility in the national defense program is "anything useful," according to Mrs. Roosevelt, who stated that no child is too young to learn the importance of being an American citizen.

In a press conference following her lecture last night at the city auditorium, the First Lady stressed the importance of youthful fitness and the fact that when a person can do his or her duty, age should not be considered.

Mrs. Roosevelt also stressed the importance of women developing a physical fitness in order that they can carry on work in factories, when the time comes.

"The women, as a whole, are not physically able to carry on the extremely hard work which they will be forced to do. For that reason I think that women should begin a course in physical training," she said.

Home Study. But Mrs. America is not going to leave her home to go to the gym to take the one-two-three of setting-up exercises. That is, when she has a home and small children to take care of. Her part, and an important part in the defense program, is that she is taking three courses: nutrition, which is basic need; then child care; and last, first aid. Women must feed their families the right foods. They must know the right foods and there is no way to have these basic facts unless an extensive study is made.

When asked what she thought on the report on Pearl Harbor, Mrs. Roosevelt said: "I hesitate to place the blame on anyone. Our military establishment seems merely to have reflected the attitude of the American people, just as the attitude of congress—in refusing to fortify Guam and in other matters—have reflected that attitude. We are all to blame."

Questioned on Job. Asked if she planned to continue with the O.C.D., the First Lady smiled, shrugged her black clad shoulders and replied: "I don't think anyone likes a permanent position, do you?"

Regarding women in uniform, Mrs. Roosevelt was not so enthusiastic. She said: "I think that when one can do her duty without wearing a uniform, she should do it. An arm band would be sufficient in most cases, but in the case of a nurse, that, of course, is different."

In reply to a question as to what part Negroes should play in national defense, Mrs. Roosevelt said that they should do as much as any other American.

Mrs. Roosevelt, whose knitting has become nationally known, does not knit for organizations. It is personal.

As she left the auditorium she paused long enough to greet Mrs. Sharpe Wall, of the Atlanta Girl Scout Council, and four troop members, Ninette Wall, Barbara Green, Mildred Pierce and Hazel Atkinson, who brought her greetings from the local group.

Despite the cold night, Mrs. Roosevelt wore only a fox cape with a jeweled clasp with her black crepe dress. Trimmed in fringe, it was featured with elbow length sleeves and was smartly sophisticated. Her only ornament was a four-strand pearl necklace, and a small pin. She was gloveless during the lecture and carried a black velvet bag.

Receives Atlantians. Earlier in the evening, soon after her arrival here, Mrs. Roosevelt received Commander Jesse Draper, and Mrs. R. H. Grantham, commander of the Navy Mothers' Club, and Mrs. Gabe A. Cohen, first vice commander of the club, in her suite at the Henry Grady hotel.

Mrs. Grantham presented an initial pin of membership in the club and some flowers. Mrs. Cohen pressed her flowers as a token from the U. S. Lassen Auxiliary, formed of mothers of the 115 boys from Atlanta on this ship.

On her way to Atlanta yesterday, Mrs. Roosevelt made a pop call on Columbus, strutting into a hotel for lunch. Although not on the alert for the First Lady's visit, the word quickly got around, and she received a few interviewers.

Search Made At Estate of Wenner-Gren

Nothing of Value to Enemy Is Found, However.

NASSAU, Bahamas, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The Bahamas government announced in an official bulletin today that a search had been made of Axel Wenner-Gren's luxurious estate on Hog island for "secret facilities, appliances and stores available to the enemy" and that nothing had been found.

A spokesman in a separate, verbal statement, declared he thought it unlikely that Wenner-Gren, recently placed on blacklists by both the United States and Bahamas governments, would be permitted to return to this British crown colony for the duration of the war.

"This position will have to be carefully studied," the spokesman stated.

The official notice declared that the search of Wenner-Gren's vast estate was "a consequence of rumors of various forms" that the enemy was receiving assistance from Nassau.

"A thorough search revealed nothing of a suspicious nature and it is hoped this announcement will allay fears of the community," it said.

Wenner-Gren, a Swedish industrialist, friend of Reichsmarshal Herman Goering and at one time considered a close friend of Edward, Duke of Windsor and royal governor of Nassau, has wide interests in the islands which since his blacklisting are being administered by the colonial government for benefit of Bahamian labor and food supplies.

Woman to Become Legion Member
SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
DUBLIN, Ga., Feb. 3.—First woman to become a member of the Dublin-Laurens Post of the American Legion will be installed Thursday night.

She is Mrs. Ruth C. Gordon, Laurens county health nurse, who recently came here from Oklahoma to assume the position. She is a native of southwest Georgia.

Mrs. Gordon served overseas as a nurse during the first World War, and with her late husband, an ex-service man who served with the AEF, joined the Legion at Guthrie, Okla.

Post Commander L. D. Woods will conduct the installation ceremony for Mrs. Gordon at the regular weekly meeting in the Legion clubroom.

Times Square Taxi Kills Spy, And U. S. Has One Less Worry

Master Agent Hit While Crossing Street, Now Uncovered Ring Is on Trial Charged With Espionage Violation.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A German master spy who planned to observe military camps and defense installations along the eastern seaboard was killed in New York last March by a taxicab, U. S. Attorney Mathias Correa charged today.

Correa made the statement in federal court in outlining to a specially chosen all-male jury the government's case against six men and a woman charged with conspiracy to violate the espionage law.

One defendant, Kurt Frederick Ludwig, 38-year-old American-born son of German parents, whom the government also called a master spy, was charged by Correa, with taking over the duties of the man who was killed, identified as Ulrich von De Osten, an officer of the Gestapo.

Correa said that Von De Osten, traveling on a Spanish passport under the name of Lopez, was interested chiefly in military espionage and suggested the trip along the eastern seaboard. Before the trip was made, Correa said, Von De Osten was killed while crossing Times Square, and Ludwig, who was with him, grabbed Von De Osten's brief case full of papers and disappeared.

Correa also charged that Ludwig made arrangements for a trip to this country in April or May, 1941, of a German spy named Hilderbrecht. Acting on information supplied by Ludwig, Correa said, Hilderbrecht traveled to California, visiting defense plants and Army camps en route, sailed from California for Japan and was believed to have transmitted his information to Japanese military authorities.

Correa said the ring allegedly operated by Ludwig was so far flung that its agents were in Argentina, Shanghai, China, Spain, Portugal and Germany.

Invites You to a Series of Garden Lectures
Given by

MRS. FLETCHER PEARSON CROWN

Vegetables for Victory

Place: Davison's 6th Floor Restaurant
Time: 3:30 Thursday, February 5th

You won't want to miss this series of seven garden lectures which will be given during the month of February by Mrs. Crown, well-known garden authority. If you're doing A. W. V. S. defense work, you will receive a certificate and credit for this course. If you just like gardening you won't want to miss it either, for she will discuss preparing the soil to reaping the rewards. Be sure to bring your husband, he will enjoy these lectures, too!

First Lecture—Thursday, Feb. 5th—Davison's Sixth Floor Restaurant at 3:30.

FIRST LADY TELLS HOW—With Mayor LeCraw acting as "listening post" by getting questions from the audience and then repeating them to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the First Lady answered inquiries about civilian defense last night as a highlight of her speech on that vital subject before more than 5,000 persons at the auditorium.

school year on May 29, as originally scheduled.

Members of the board said that to operate the schools six days per week would upset plans of high school students who work Saturdays, would accomplish little if anything and would create confusion among parents and pupils.

L. L. Gellerstedt, president of the Atlanta Clearing House Association, issued the following statement:

"Effective as of Monday, February 9, the Atlanta Clearing House banks will open for business at 9:30 a. m. and remain open for the transaction of business until 2 p. m. each week day except Saturday, on which day they will remain open until 12:30 p. m. After carefully considering the convenience of the public in the matter of transportation of personnel, conserving man power, electric energy, heating and other services, and to conform with the hours of the merchants, other places of business, the schools and the public generally, it was decided to open 30 minutes later than heretofore. The Atlanta banks are prompted in this decision, as in others, by their desire to co-operate fully with our national policy of an all out defense effort."

5,000 Hear Mrs. Roosevelt

wherever a gun is fired against the Axis it is fired in our behalf, and whatever aid we can give to all who fight with us should give without stint.

There should be, she said, the same sort of centralization of aid as there is now a centralization and a co-ordination of military effort between the Americans, the British, the Chinese and the Dutch.

Upon the framework of civilian defense, using the momentum created by national unity under pressure of total war, we should carry on a program that will establish in this country many of the things we now strive for—the building of a strong and healthy race.

She warned of growing tired of war, of slackening our efforts when the enemy begins to crack, and of making a peace that is not a peace, but an armistice, that, like the armistice of 1918, will not last.

After her address she threw the meeting open to questions from the audience. One, from a woman who obviously felt the danger of bombs to be immediate, asked what to do if an incendiary bomb should come through the roof. Mrs. Roosevelt said the first thing to do to prepare for such an emergency was to clean out the attic. The woman said she didn't have an attic. If a bomb fell on her roof it would land right on her bed.

Offers Suggestions.

Mrs. Roosevelt suggested that she take refuge downstairs, but the woman said she lived in a one and a half story house. Mrs. Roosevelt said in that case the safest place would be under a heavy table.

The woman asked if a coal scuttle full of sand poured on a bomb would put it out. Mrs. Roosevelt said it would work fine on incendiary bombs, but it wouldn't protect against demolition bombs at all.

At this point a gray-haired old gentleman frequently seen preaching on street corners downtown rose to ask whether or not the power of prayer should not be invoked in times like these.

Mrs. Roosevelt said that prayer was always helpful. A high school girl asked what to do if in a car when a bombing started, with no houses near by.

"Leave your car," Mrs. Roosevelt said, "and lie flat on your face in the ditch and cover your head with your hands."

It was Mrs. Roosevelt's sixth visit to Atlanta in the past eight years. Other times her coming aroused no more than a polite interest. This time she received an ovation. Hundreds waited for nearly 30 minutes after her talk to catch a glimpse of her as she left the auditorium following a brief press interview, and State Guards and Highway Patrolmen were needed to clear a path for her car.

She arrived in Atlanta late yesterday afternoon by car from Warm Springs. She went directly to her suite at the Henry Grady—a suite occupied at other times by such varied characters as Mae West, the Halifaxes, Gene Tunney, Jack Dempsey, Cecil B. DeMille, Dorothy Thompson, William Green and assorted movie stars.

She settled down at once to reading the mail that had been sent there for her.

Grateful for Flowers. She spoke gratefully of the flower-banked room, with a vase of 36 yellow and crimson "Eleanor Roosevelt" roses, noted to Jim Page, hotel manager, that he knew his rose varieties, gave instructions for sending out the flower gifts to hospitals after she left and settled down to dictate her column, "My Day," to Miss Malvina Thompson, her secretary.

"Stringbeans," tall, saddle-colored waiter, came up with the menu, bowed, scraped, saw that he was remembered from past visits and beamed while the first lady ordered a light dinner of vegetable soup, lamb chops and black coffee, en demi-tasse.

A crowd had gathered in the lobby as she came down, escorted

WGST Official Admits Salary Up to $27,000

Spend One Week a Month in Atlanta, He Tells FCC.

Sam Pickard, vice president and general manager of Southern Broadcasting Stations, Inc., operators of WGST, admitted in Washington yesterday the company paid him salaries and bonuses amounting up to $27,000 per year—although he said he spent only about one week each month in Atlanta.

Questioned by counsel for Georgia's Governor while a witness at a Communications Commission examiner's license renewal hearing, Pickard insisted that though he considered Miami, Fla., "home," and spent some time in North Carolina, most of his time is "taken up with the activities of WGST."

He said he thought he was worth his salary and would not accept it if he didn't. He was formerly a vice president of the Columbia Broadcasting Company.

A communications commission examiner also was told that as a Christmas gift in 1940 the wife of Governor Talmadge received a $175 watch from the company which the Governor now seeks to oust at operators of Georgia Tech's radio station WGST.

Mrs. Paula J. Wilhite, secretary-treasurer of Southern Broadcasting Stations, Inc., the operating company, said the gift was purchased with a "due bill" by which Southern agreed to accept merchandise for advertising watches of that make. Due bills are the basis of Talmadge's chief complaint against the company.

A dispute arose last year over whether due bills should be considered income by the company, Georgia Tech receives monthly checks from Southern for 10 percent of the income. Mrs. Wilhite and others said the company finally sent Tech a check for $1,400 covering these disputed items.

Mrs. Wilhite said the watch was given to Mrs. Talmadge by Clarence H. Calhoun, president of Southern. Marcus Cohn, commission counsel, asked whether Mrs. Talmadge performed any services for which the watch represented payment. Mrs. Wilhite said she had not.

Louis Caldwell, attorney for the Governor, who, with the Board of Regents, is seeking to vacate Georgia Tech's contract with Pickard's Company, asserted company records show Pickard received $70,000 in salary, bonuses and stock dividends one year.

East Point Seeks Residential Buses

East Point city council will meet Friday night to study the possibility of establishing a bus service between downtown East Point and the residential section with a round trip fare of 10 cents. Mayor E. Glenn Laney announced.

The service is being considered so citizens can shop in the business section without using their automobiles and wearing out irreplaceable tires, it was said.

Council Monday night passed an ordinance setting a maximum fine of $50 or 90 days in jail for failure to turn out lights or for turning in false fire alarms during a blackout.

Sugar Hoarders Will Be on 'Spot' With Ration Cards

Sugar hoarders probably will have to come out of hiding or else swear to a lie when the government begins issuing rationing cards in the near future, Theo M. Forbes, state rationing administrator, reported yesterday to the Citizens Defense Committee, which announced the total civilian defense registration for Georgia was 195,119.

Explaining he had just returned from a meeting of rationing administrators in Chicago, Forbes said machinery for rationing sugar was being set up rapidly and added "other commodities are on the way."

The latest plan to be advanced by the government for rationing sugar, Forbes pointed out, provides rationing cards will be issued to consumers from post offices and the individual will have to take an oath as to how much sugar he has on hand.

"If a person should have 10 pounds of sugar in his possession he would have to take an oath to this effect and immediately 10 pounds would be deducted from his rationing card," Forbes said. "In this way everybody either would have to report the amount of sugar he has or swear to a lie."

Forbes made it clear, however, this plan had not definitely been approved but governmental officials seemed to regard it as the most practical. Each person will be limited to 12 ounces of sugar per week.

Right now, he said, the rationing boards are concerned mainly with the rationing of automobiles and trucks and he announced the appointment of Hal Smith, Atlanta automobile dealer, to head this phase of the rationing program.

In discussing tire rationing, Forbes reiterated the greatest pressure groups developing in Georgia in tire rationing were public officials.

"We have had numerous instances in which the sheriff of a county or the chairman of the board of commissioners brought pressure on the local boards to get tires when they are positively not entitled to them, he said, and in some few instances tires have been issued to these people," he said.

Forbes emphasized this trouble had developed with all types of governmental workers — federal, state, county and city.

Priority Dispute.

He added there had been some misrepresentation about the tire rationing program, giving as an example the announcement that all ministers would be allowed tires. As a matter of fact, he said, it has not definitely been settled that ministers can obtain priority. Forbes also said that talk of rationing reappearing tires was "purely speculative" at the moment, and that he had received no word from Washington on this possibility.

Numerous reports on the progress of the civilian defense program in Georgia were made at yesterday's meeting of the executive committee of the Citizens Defense Committee.

The majority of the district chairmen were present and gave last-minute tabulations on the civilian defense registration in their respective districts.

The fourth district, which is the west-central section of the state, led all other districts with a registration of 33,935, or two and one-half times its quota. The fifth district came next with a total of 26,250 volunteers.

District Figures.

Figures for the other districts were as follows: First, 23,823; second, 13,044; third, 15,332; sixth, 22,281; seventh, 9,170; eighth, 20,801; ninth, 11,633, and 10th 19,045.

Chairman Robert B. Troutman described this record as "pretty good" and announced the districts would plunge immediately into the task of training the army of volunteers.

Colonel Richard C. Job, field director, reported that considerable progress already had been made in getting the training program started, explaining that classes were under way in the principal cities of the state.

He explained the Red Cross had agreed to a 10-hour course in first aid instead of 20 hours. Those taking the 10 hours, Job said, will be entitled to the Civilian Defense insignia but not Red Cross certificates.

Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, director of the State Department of Public Health, said Georgia may have to "mark time" in the first-aid program for a month or six weeks because most of the Red Cross trainers were busy in other states and could not be brought into Georgia immediately.

Mrs. Shelby Myrick, of Savannah, chairman of the women's division of the Citizens Defense Committee, announced the appointment of Miss Beverly Wheatcroft, head of the State Library Commission, as chairman of information for the women's group.

By a unanimous vote of the executive committee, Mrs. Myrick was authorized to incorporate the development of "victory gardens" over the state under her nutrition program, which will be headed by Miss Lurline Collier, of Athens.

Home demonstration agents throughout the state will be called upon to co-operate in this program.

Press, Radio Praised. Douglas Robertson, chairman of the publicity and information committee, praised the newspapers and radio stations for their co-operation in disseminating information about the registration. He said he never had known the newspapers and radio stations to co-operate more fully in a drive in Georgia.

Charles A. Collier emphasized it was exceedingly important that all counties in the state follow a uniform practice in classifying the registrants so as to avoid confusion. It also was emphasized that because some districts have gone over the top, there is no reason for inadequate registration in any county. Without a uniform distribution of volunteers the organization to combat air raids would not function smoothly, it was pointed out. All counties, therefore, were advised to report immediately.

U. S. Approves Colonial's Plan On Sugar Sales

Okay Granted by OPA Until Rationing Cards Go Into Effect.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 3.—The Colonial Stores, Inc., plan for the distribution, or rationing, of sugar has been approved by the Office of Price Administration, following a consultation with the Department of Justice in Washington, announcement was made today.

The announcement followed a conference in Washington between officials of the OPA, the Department of Justice and W. C. Pender, general counsel for Colonial Stores, Inc.

The legality of the plan, which was at first questioned by Department of Justice, was reaffirmed as a temporary measure in the public interest, in co-operation with the Office of Price Administration until the government is prepared to take responsibility by issuing rationing cards, now in process of preparation, said Pender.

It was revealed the rationing plan inaugurated by Colonial Stores, Inc., had resulted in an approximate reduction of 30 per cent in total sugar sales and that the allotment for the month of January was consumed exactly, thereby providing sugar for all patrons.

The plan, permitting the purchase of sugar with other goods, said Pender, afforded an opportunity for all to participate in the government conservation of sugar. No real hardship has been experienced as provision was made in the plan for purchase of sugar by those financially unable to make other purchases, he said.

Pender said it was exceedingly unfortunate that the motives of the company in rationing sugar should have been misunderstood or questioned, but he was glad to say that the conference in Washington had made everything clear and won official approval.

The reduction of 30 per cent in sugar sales, demanded by the government, had been acknowledged and that fact vindicated the action of the company, Pender pointed out.

"NO HOPE"—That was the message from the Navy Department yesterday to the family of Lieutenant Charles Edison Anderson, of Millen, Ga. The Navy said the officer was "missing" after performance of his duty and hope had been abandoned of finding him.

Successful Defense

School Ends at Athens

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 3.—One of the most successful defense schools yet conducted in Georgia by the Federal Bureau of Investigation has come to a close here after a six-day session.

Vincent D. Garvey, special agent from Washington, D.C., in charge of the school, while F. R. Hammack, head of the Atlanta FBI office, and Police Chief E. Weldon Wood were hosts to the visiting officers, which include police officers, state highway patrolmen, sheriffs, county policemen and deputy sheriffs from all over the state.

Eighty-one registered the first day and others arriving later augmented this figure.

Federal Tax Returns Ahead Of Last Year

January Collections at $133,468,893 Are Twice as Large.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Thousands of federal income tax payers—new and old—have taken the gloom out of March by filing their returns early, the treasury disclosed today in announcing that such tax receipts to date are twice as large as they were a year ago.

The treasury reported that January collections were $133,468,893 compared with $62,739,357 in the same month last year. At some individual collection offices, the ratio was even higher.

Although the deadline for this year's federal income tax returns is March 16, the returns were due technically on January 1. So to avoid the customary eleven-hour rush an increasing number of Americans are getting the annual chore out of the way early.

In Chicago, for instance, a federal revenue office said that returns filed between January 2 and January 28 numbered 25,701 compared with 12,298 for the same 1941 period, and the revenues amounted to $24,300,000, compared with $9,859,000.

In Baltimore, both returns and revenues were up 100 per cent, and scattered reports from other parts of the country told similar stories.

Altogether, the treasury figures that the new tax law will increase the number of returns from 15,000,000 to about 22,000,000.

Byrd Seeks Repeal Of Pension Bill For Congressmen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Senator Byrd, Democrat, Virginia, introduced legislation today to repeal the pensions for congressmen provided in a recent civil service law while the Civil Service Commission said that if congressmen were denied the retirement benefits "it would be difficult to justify any such discrimination."

TO WASHINGTON—Leon H. Logan, merchandise and sales promotion manager for Sears-Robuck, who left yesterday to take a position with the War Production Board in Washington.

Connected With Firm 13 Years, He Came Here From Dallas.

Leon H. Logan, merchandise and sales promotion manager for Sears-Robuck, left yesterday to take a job with the War Production Board in Washington, and two other officials of the company have been promoted, Cecil Crawford, manager, announced.

Logan, who has been connected with the firm for 13 years, is a graduate of the University of Missouri. He came to Atlanta from the Dallas store three years ago. Walter Kavanaugh, advertising manager of the local store for the past three years, will succeed Logan. He is a native of Port Arthur, Texas, and also came here from Dallas.

Henry Lee Jr., formerly Kavanaugh's assistant, becomes advertising manager. A native Atlantan, Lee has been with the firm five years.

Pilots Aiding CAP To Get Expenses

Private pilots doing work for the Civil Air Patrol will be paid actual expenses, Wing Commander Winthrop Nunnally announced yesterday.

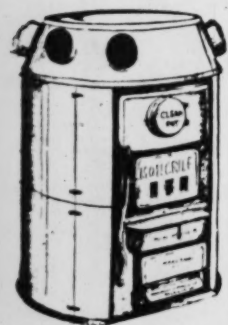

"The Civil Aeronautics Board has amended regulations to make this possible," Commander Nunnally said he had been informed by Major General John F. Curry, who is national commander of CAP.

The expenses will include a fair rental for the plane, depreciation and insurance, as well as the pilot's personal expenditures while doing an official mission for the organization.

New Charge Names Rivers, Five Others

Broader Indictment Brings Another Defendant Into Case.

A broader indictment of former Governor E. D. Rivers on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the state of large sums of money was returned yesterday by the Fulton county grand jury. Five others were named with him, the only one of the five not previously indicted being W. W. Willis, former assistant supervisor of state purchases.

Others named in the new indictment are O. G. Glover, former assistant supervisor of purchases; George C. Blount, assistant highway engineer in charge of maintenance; J. G. (Bugs) Glover, former supervisor of state convict forces; and D. B. Blalock, a member of a partnership doing business under the name of the Blalock Machinery & Equipment Company.

The indictment charges a felony alleging that before and after June 30, 1939, they defrauded the state of money "by means of a corrupt scheme and by willful evasion of the laws designed to regulate the purchase of supplies required by the state government."

11 Instances Listed.
The indictment listed 11 alleged instances of fraud in two counts, the second practically identical with the first. No specific sums of money are mentioned but the original indictment charged the defendants, with the exception of Willis, with defrauding the state of $80,000 through the purchase of more than $400,000 worth of equipment.

Rivers, his son and 18 former state officials and associates of business concerns were indicted a month ago by the November-December grand jury, which urged that the probe be continued. The indictments were the result of a long investigation by Solicitor General John A. Boykin's office. Of the sums required for the inquiry, Governor Talmadge supplied $10,000.

Purpose Alleged.
"The purpose of the conspiracy and agreement," the indictment reads, "was to manage and conduct the buying of supplies, machinery, materials and equipment for use by the state and the Highway Department, through the agency of the supervisor of purchases, as to give illegal advantage and preference to D. B. Blalock and to Blalock Machinery & Equipment Company, at prices in excess of the real value and reasonable market price thereof, and thus to enrich D. B. Blalock, the Blalock Machinery & Equipment Company and themselves."

In furtherance of the plan, the indictment charges that the defendants willfully ignored the law regulating state purchases in the following instances:

1. That the accused would neglect and refuse to canvass all sources of supply and fail to contract for supplies through competitive bidding.

No Estimates.
2. That they would fail to establish and enforce standard specifications.

3. That they failed to require agencies of the state government to furnish to the supervisor of purchases tabulated estimates and supplies needed by such agencies.

4. That they failed to purchase supplies involving expenditures of more than $2,000 as provided by an act of legislature approved March 29, 1937.

5. That they failed to purchase supplies involving expenditures of more than $1,000 in accordance with legislative act approved March 24, 1939.

Bids Not Solicited.
6. That they purchased supplies for the state without soliciting bids direct by mail from reputable dealers according to law.

7. That they purchased large quantities of supplies not based on competitive bids and awarded to the lowest bidder.

8. That they caused to be made for the purchase of supplies specifications which were not "standard specifications," but were "closed specifications" which could only be met in the state by the Blalock Machinery & Equipment Company.

9. That they issued requisitions for equipment such as was embraced within "closed specifications."

10. That machinery was purchased from the Blalock company under the guise of emergency purchases for immediate delivery when no emergency existed.

11. That the accused, where there was a pretense of advertising for bids, the advertisement and invitation would not specify the amount and number of the articles desired, but would invite bids on one or more articles, the purpose being to prevent other bidders from knowing the amount of equipment desired.

Blalock issued a statement in which he stated, in part, "If the full truth had been given the grand jury there would have been no indictment against me."

Bundles for Congress

There is more than a mere prank in the movement started by the Spokane Athletic Round Table to collect "bundles for congress." There is in that movement a powerful force which will make, before it has ended, force a sense of shame on the national representatives who have voted for themselves pensions, partly at government expense, at a time when their constituents are sacrificing to help pay for the war.

Two bills have already been introduced in the house to repeal that portion of the newly enacted Civil Service Retirement law which applied to elective officials—which means, chiefly, congressmen. This satiric campaign to seek charitable contributions for "needy" congressmen may, by the force of ridicule, force action on those bills. It is the consensus of opinion by observers of the legislative scene at the national capital that, unless the general public does force repeal of the outrageous enactment, congress itself will conveniently pigeonhole the repeal bills, hoping the people will, in due time, forget all about it.

Congressmen complain they are unable, owing to the cost of living in Washington—including their so-called "social obligations"—to save anything out of their salaries for their support in old age. Hence the enactment of this pension bill which gives to any ex-congressman who has served as much as five years, a pension for life after he reaches the age of 62. That is, of course, if he has either retired from congress or been defeated for reelection.

Toward payment of these pensions, the congressmen are required to contribute 5 per cent of their salaries, which, according to actuarial figures, will take care of about half the pension payment, leaving the other half to be taken from the Treasury, out of the tax moneys the people are struggling, right now, so valiantly to pay.

A congressman's pension varies according to his length of service, ranging from approximately $1,000 to $4,500 a year, for life. He pays into the retirement fund only on that portion of his salary due since passage of the bill. Thus a member of either senate or house, by paying $200, which is 5 per cent of the balance of his salary for the present fiscal year, can retire—or be retired—in January next, and draw his life pension with no further contribution to the fund.

The financial difficulties of the poor congressmen will undoubtedly interest the mass of voters who earn less than $2,000 a year.

For a congressman draws an annual salary of $10,000 a year. In addition to this he gets his offices rent free, in the house or senate office building. He gets a substantial allowance for clerk hire and for the salary of his secretary. He gets another allowance to pay for his official stationery. He enjoys the franking privilege, under which he can mail government matter without postage. He also gets, once each session, a "mileage allowance" of 20 cents a mile for the entire distance, round trip, between his home and Washington. It would seem, to the average man, the average congressman could lay a few dollars aside, out of all this, to provide for his old age.

Incidentally, the civil service employees, many of them living in the same Washington congressmen find so expensive, who make $2,400 or less, have their pension dues increased, under this bill, from 3 1/2 to 5 per cent of salary and the retirement benefit, a pension of $100 a month, is not increased one cent.

Recently an attempt was made to raise postal employees' salaries and Congressman Robert Ramspeck, author of the congressional pension bill, opposed that increase with the argument that a $2,000-a-year salary was envied by the general public and a raise at this time—war time—was unthinkable.

But not unthinkable, evidently, for congressmen making $10,000 a year and perquisites!

Strangest optical illusion of the winter was the Fuehrer's supposition that a Red standing

In three feet of snow had been beaten to his knees.

The National Physique

For years men and women of the United States Public Health Service have gone up and down the country preaching the value of good physical condition. In many places their efforts bore fruit. In too many others their words fell upon barren ground. It took a national emergency, like the present war, with its calling up of men to arms through selective service, to bring home at last the messages that have been preached.

Thus it may be startling to the general public, but surely not to the public health service workers, to learn the present poor physical condition of American youth—resulting in a rejection rate of almost 50 per cent by selective service boards and the Army—could have been predicted, and largely prevented, 15 years ago. Yet that is the conclusion of the health service's statisticians, after an intensive study of the records.

It is also interesting to note in connection with the report there is a misconception among many persons that the general health is improving, just because a child's chances of life are much better today than they were 15 years ago. For the record on general health tells otherwise. This means the fatal complacency has set in, in many quarters, based on an entirely false assumption. Few will deny, points out the report, that the need for competent, healthy, physically fit young men will be for some years at an all-time high. Satisfaction of this need involves accurate information on all significant early and remediable defects. Only in this way can be achieved effective upbuilding of national physical status.

His 80th Birthday

Judge S. Price Gilbert, retired associate justice of the Georgia supreme court, on Saturday last celebrated his 80th birthday. He is now making his home at Sea Island, where he is in charge of the proposal to erect a shrine to John Wesley, a proposal sponsored by the College of Bishops of the Methodist church.

Judge Gilbert has given much to his native state during a career of remarkable public service. His name is closely associated with many of the greatest church achievements of the past half century and thousands of Georgians can look back to the day when, as young men, it was some word of encouragement from Judge Gilbert which started them on the right road in life.

A brilliant lawyer, an authority on basic law and an upright Christian gentleman, Judge Gilbert has built for himself a reputation to be envied by any man and has made himself one of the most valued citizens of his state.

All Georgia extends to him congratulations upon reaching the mark of four-score years and expresses the hope that he will remain with us for many years to come.

Be Sure It Is Waste

That there is danger some persons, in their eagerness to contribute waste paper to the war collectors, may give away papers of high historical value is pointed out in a communication from E. M. Coulter, chairman of the Georgia committee on the conservation of cultural resources. His letter appears today in the "Pulse of the Public" column.

Care in the discarding of old papers, in order to avoid loss of documents of historical or other value, should be scrupulously exercised. It is quite possible that some possessors of collections of old papers might, in their enthusiastic effort to co-operate in the collection of waste material for war purposes, sacrifice documents of high value to the historian or archivist.

So, when you tie your bundle of old paper for the collectors, be very sure there is nothing but actual waste in those bundles. Differentiate with care between what is, and what is not, waste.

Georgia Editors Say:

YOUR JOB

(From The Waycross Journal-Herald)

The inescapable responsibility is upon every citizen to perform his job in wartime more efficiently than he performs it in peacetime. In all probability that is the desire and the determination of every citizen.

Out of this added efficiency that every citizen brings to his job must come the time, the will, the money to perform other jobs outside his regular job that are performed as a patriotic service.

The time, the will, the money for patriotic services can come only from added efficiency in the performance of regular job. There is no other source of patriotic service.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

SINGAPORE AND VERDUN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—In the last World War the Germans lost 500,000 men in killed, wounded and prisoners in a futile attempt to take the fortified French city of Verdun. It was one of the Kaiser's military machine.

Military men predict that the fight now raging over Singapore will be another Battle of Verdun.

While preparations were being made in Tokyo to celebrate the fall of the British fortress, a Chinese general in Chungking, capital of Free China, was quoted as saying Singapore "will be the graveyard of the Japanese."

"Singapore," said General Liu Wei-chang, of the Chinese general staff, "will be the turning point of the present war in the Far East. It will be the graveyard of the Japanese. Singapore will be the Verdun of World War No. 2."

Others in our own military establishment feel the same way about it. The stakes are too high to consider that it will be any less defended than Verdun. It offers the stage setting for one of the great battles of history.

Forced to withdraw to the fortifications of the city after a 350-mile retreat down the Malayan Peninsula, the British are prepared to make one of those last-ditch stands which are justly famous in history. It is inconceivable that proper measures will be denied for bringing up the necessary reinforcements. Prime Minister Churchill has stated emphatically that Singapore must and will be saved. He was reflecting an equal determination by our own government.

REINFORCEMENTS ARRIVED

It must be assumed, therefore, that far-flung moves for the defense of the South Pacific base are now in the course of execution. What they are necessarily constitute military secrets of the first magnitude. We may only speculate on the possibility of large British and American troop concentrations somewhere in the area within striking distance of Singapore. Already we have had the announcement that reinforcements have arrived. There must be others on the way.

The thing for the public to bear in mind is that Singapore is many thousands miles away. Even if we had the troops and the ships ready for sailing at the time war suddenly broke in the Pacific on December 7, it takes some weeks for convoys to negotiate the long passage. And the war is only two months old.

The very fact that we have done nothing to relieve the hard-pressed forces of General MacArthur in the Philippines is evidence enough that the defense of Singapore is a half main preoccupation. There may be surprises in store for the public soon. During time of war it is not proper to announce plans in advance. The Japs may be the most surprised of all.

PROBLEM FOR JAPS

Long regarded as impregnable against sea attack, Singapore, if taken by the Japanese, at all, must be stormed by land troops across the Strait of Johore, which varies in width from a half mile to a mile and a half. In trying to cross there, they would have to face the mines the British have sown in the moat and also face an inferno of fire from British artillery.

In anticipation of the retreat behind the fortifications, the British last week evacuated all citizens and livestock from an area a mile wide on the north approaches of Singapore island, thus clearing a way for their artillery fire. The slaughter will be frightful when the Japs attempt to cross.

If parachute troops and air-borne infantry are used by the Japs, they will find ample British troops to welcome them. Military men have pointed out that Singapore differs from Crete in many important respects, chiefly in that it is heavily manned, is a heavily armed fortress, and not a lonely little island bereft of air defense.

BIG GUNS Any attempt to land a force by sea would face the fire of the big 15 and 18-inch guns which are capable of throwing projectiles 30 miles across water. A convoy coming within range of the British guns would be threatened with the disaster that overcame the Japs in the Straits of Malacca.

Although designed originally as both an offensive and defensive base, Singapore's usefulness for offense was destroyed some weeks ago when the Japs acquired bomber bases within range of the island. Nevertheless, it remains a post of the highest importance in the South Pacific.

So long as it continues in British hands, the Japanese will be hampered in all their operations aimed at the Dutch East Indies and the Indian ocean. On the other hand, its loss would constitute a grave danger to the Dutch, the Chinese, Australia and India.

The United Nations cannot afford to lose it, although the war in the Pacific would go on just the same if we did. It would merely make our task for the rest of the war more difficult.

As the Chinese general put it, we will expect another Battle of Verdun before it is lost. It might be the turning point if successfully defended.

Conservation

Auto Driving.

For one, I've been conserving the use of my car as much as possible since it became necessary to stop sales of new tires or cars. Got to take care of the rubber, for goodness only knows above the 40 m. p. h. he is able to get more.

So it happens I haven't driven out of town for quite a few weeks. Haven't even driven to town except when I just had to have the car during the day.

Getting re-acquainted with street cars. On Monday last, however, I had to go to Rome. And had to drive the car there and back. And I was struck by conditions I witnessed among drivers on that highway.

I started out determined not to let my speedometer needle go above the 40 m. p. h. mark. For all motorists know it is high-speed driving that burns up the rubber. Your tires wear out twice as fast at 60 m. p. h. as at 40 m. p. h., you know.

So, despite the temptation of the new highway between Rome and Marietta, I kept my resolution quite firm. Don't believe the speedometer went a mile above 40 more than two or three times on the trip and then only momentarily.

But what surprised me was that I wasn't the only one. Most other drivers were keeping "below 40," too. I had expected a constant stream of cars to overtake and pass me, but not at all. Oh, a few did, but it takes the exceptions to prove the rule, you know.

It is safe to presume that this slower driving condition is observable all over the state. The fatality statistics certainly provide corroborative evidence. Only about half as many killed this January as in January one year ago.

And, after all, it doesn't mean much in time saving to drive so fast. I got to Rome in two hours and, if you are going to make the trip, you can just as easily allow two hours as an hour and a half for road time.

Old Tags And New. One peculiar circumstance came to my attention that may have something to do with human psychology.

Of those who were not driving slower, those who came around from the rear with a swish and a scream of tires, 90 per cent were cars still carrying the old 1941 licence tags. Nearly all those with 1942 tags were driving slowly.

Is there some psychological connection between the procrastination or carelessness that causes delay in purchase of a new tag, and the procrastination of a delayed start on a journey—causing the higher speed driving—and the recklessness of too-fast drivers?

Another thought about this driving speed. It is evident that if everyone drives at 40 m. p. h. it is safer for all. The dangerous driver is then the 60 m. p. h. boy.

But if everyone drives at 60 m. p. h., the most dangerous driver is the 40 m. p. h. fellow, or slower. For he forces the procession out of line, forces other cars to overtake and pass him and creates a real hazard.

But I hope the shortage of rubber will some day be relieved so we can, generally, go back to the higher speeds. After all, when you go somewhere you do want to get there and time is a commodity that is valuable—though conservation of your tires is more valuable under conditions today.

Incidentally, you get better mileage to the gallon of gas at the lower speed. Which may provide a little surplus to buy defense stamps or a defense bond, in a month or two.

Delightful City. I have always thought Rome one of the pleasantest cities in Georgia and I found no reason to change that opinion on Monday. Didn't have any spare time to drive around the place on this visit, but I've seen the sights before, on more than one occasion.

There is something particularly likeable about the men you meet in Rome. An extra portion of quiet cordiality, perhaps. Folks are grand everywhere you go, in Georgia and out, but every place seems to impress its stamp upon the people who live there and the imprint of a Georgia Roman is a mighty likeable characteristic.

I do want to save those tires all I can, but a visit to Rome is always welcome.

National Asset

DETROIT, Feb. 3.—Suppose we table for today the question why the motor industry didn't convert sooner to war production and such recrimination, which is really but the bitter consolation of peoples beaten in war, and turn to something more vital and optimistic. This nation is not defeated and can be defeated only by such strictly internal enemies as politics, fat-headedness and a stupid belief that we are invincible merely because we say so.

Unfortunately for private interests and investments the motor industry built so large and well achieved such renowned success that it is very practical effect, and never mind any fine old theories of private ownership, a national asset which could be taken over just like that by the government and with practically unanimous political approval if the owners and operators should refuse to help.

The big shots of the industry are today more able to refuse than Hitler's industrialists were. Not that they have any thought of refusing, for they are all patriotic, too; they have to co-operate to retain control of the nominal control of their property. Their industry, by and large, is as surely an arm of defense, or offense, as the Navy and now it is, as the British say, all-out, or going all-out after considerable delay.

Showing Reporters As a means of noising about the country try the fact that they are all-out, or going all-out, they have been conducting some sightseeing tours for quite a collection of journalists but not, however, under subsidy, such as all-expenses paid, which is the European way. They just invite reporters out and have shown them around, and I think they have in mind a hope of a good report to help them put down the suggestion that professional unioneers, skilled in harangue and conspiracy, are better fit to run these enormous plants, which were built from the naked fields in a few score years, than the financiers, promoters, organizers, managers and masters of big machinery who developed a croupy and highly speculative engine into the national asset that it is.

At this point I refer to my notes on the production of certain gun parts and tear them up, for it is wisely forbidden to indicate how many of these things are produced, or how they are produced, by great machines from huge, ugly square blocks to the fineness of jewelry, are coming out of the shop in question.

The block comes in from elsewhere and someone, certainly not Walter Reuther, of the CIO, sees within it, as the sculptor sees the nymph within the block of marble, this priceless machine of war and so it starts on its travel through the works, being planed by steel teeth of incredible sharpness and strength and bored and filed and gentled until, buttered with heavy grease and covered with canvas against the weather and unauthorized gaze, it leaves the plant to go to war.

Hoosier Kid Bosses Job The man who runs this show was a Hoosier kid who went into automobiles in the alley-shack machine-shop era of the motor industry and now makes nothing but war stuff, in much less quantity than the situation desperately wants, to be sure, but more and more these days, for war is his only business now.

The workers, here, incidentally, appear to be, on an average, older than the run and many of their jobs call for delicacy and skill, although there are some outrageous notions, thought to require great talent, in which the toiler may lean against something gnawing a candy bar while the machine performs, and knowingly quits when its wizardry is done.

Production of these gun parts is rising and the present rate is a mild comfort, but lest anyone decide that the war is as good as won, it is still terribly short of the great demand and the figures are nothing to lard the spirit with the blubber of complacency.

Auto Business Is Destroyed A vast assembly plant which abandoned automobiles last week, with ceremonies not untinged with sadness, was well on toward dismantlement yesterday morning. Men were ripping out the assembly line, chewing great holes in the concrete floor and digging pits for the concrete foundations of new machines. Men were shoveling up filings and scrap and jerking great dumb giants of mechanism by block and tackle across the floors for removal to some great central pool in which thousands of such machines, useless for war, will be stored against the peace.

The war is destroyed, gone, and the motor industry is turning, late, and with uncertain steps but with its vast power, to war.

and diplomats enjoy immunity from arrest.

Impunity is a noun pronounced in-PU-ni-ty with the accent on the second syllable, as that in puny.

Impunity signifies freedom from punishment, harm, or the loss of property or privileges.

Diplomatic representatives accredited to this country enjoy immunity from arrest and may violate our civil laws with impunity. Some people seem to think they can violate all rules of health with impunity; as he sits in drafts with impunity; he enters the contagious ward with impunity.

A few years ago a highway patrolman arrested an accredited diplomat for speeding and escorted him to a local justice court. It seems that the justice never heard of diplomatic immunity from arrest. He tried the diplomat and found him guilty as charged, and thereby precipitated a rather ludicrous diplomatic incident.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

"PREPOSTEROUS"

Bert Williams, the old singer of sad and forlorn ballads, used to have a song which wound up— "It's mo' than that—it's preposterous!"

Such, it seems to me, is the weak and poorly considered defense of the congressional pension grab.

The defense is not only a startling and amazing confession of weakness and corruption in government—it is not merely a confession that pressures and temptations exact their toll—it is a preposterous and somewhat monstrous defense.

The congressmen of the United States, a majority of the house and senate, have voted to provide themselves a pension for life on completion of a specified period of service. For payment of as little as $200 they made themselves eligible for pensions which can run as high as $4,000 and more.

It is called a "retirement" plan. It is to be paid out of the funds of civil service employees paid in over a period of two or more decades. They are paid by the public. The congressmen would dip into that fund and establish themselves as beneficiaries of money already paid in by federal employees paid by public taxation.

That plan is bold enough. It is astonishing that a person who goes before the public and asks for election to public office, should be so brazen as to consider himself a permanent fixture and entitled to a pension for life.

It is alarming that a publicly elected official should consider himself in the employment of the government. It is more than that—it is preposterous. But even more preposterous is the defense.

POOR, WEAK CREATURES The proponents of this pension grab argue thus—and seriously, mind you: It would make the congressman stronger in his resistance against pressure groups.

It would make the congressman less likely to succumb to temptation of bribes and "within-the-law" benefits. It would make him more likely to give a more honest account of himself if he knew he was secure for life.

That is the most alarming, preposterous statement yet. That all but takes away the breath. Have we come to that state in government when some of the elected representatives of the people are willing to say that congress, by a majority, is so venal it needs something to bolster its moral strength and its intellectual honesty?

Have we sunk to so low a degree in governmental integrity that we have to bribe representatives in this nation's government with a pension for life to render an honest service?

The facts are, of course, that a weak and dishonest man would be made all the weaker and more dishonest by this plan. He would be so fearful of losing his life's pension that he would not offend any pressure group. He would protect that pension no matter what the temptations to do right at the cost of some political strength. He would want to run it to the highest figure possible and would not risk cutting it off at a mere $1,500 per year.

The prospect of a life of ease and security does not make for a more honest official. Faced with a prospect which meant loss of popularity if he opposed, he would not be likely to risk it. He would be the more likely to bow to pressure than he is without "security."

The fact that such a position, untenable as it is, should be supported by such startling admissions of the fact that pressures and temptations do sway the representatives, is even more dangerous than the pension grab itself.

BUNDLES FOR CONGRESSMEN Let us assume that it was a proper bill. (Its proponents apparently did not think so, sending it in as a "rider.") But, let us assume that it was a proper bill. It still was not the time for it.

At a time when the nation is being asked to live harder and more closely . . . At a time when businessmen are seeking a life's work made insecure or perhaps ruined by the extreme measures necessary for war . . . At a time when there is less sugar in the coffee cup . . . At a time when there are no businesses great or small where the war has not made some loss felt . . . At a time when lower incomes are being brought into the tax list . . .

At a time when the nation is being asked to sacrifice . . . Is that a time for the congressmen smugly and slyly to vote themselves life security? Is that a time for congress to avoid the sacrifice and add to their possessions?

It would not seem so. Yet a majority of congress so voted. Away there in Washington it is barely possible they do not realize the growing wrath of the people.

The idea of "Bundles for Congressmen"—the sending of old clothes to these poor ones with $10,000 a year and secretary and office hire thrown in—will grow. There will be some political heads to roll because of this. It is not such a small issue on which to go before the people. Not at all small.

We will hear more about it. The enormity of the confession of lack of integrity and the character to resist unwholesome pressures will sink into the public's mind. We will hear more about it—this effort to create a privileged hierarchy in government.

The Fittest Who Survive Are Those Without a Soft Spot

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Experts are better qualified to give us the dark side of the war picture, but anybody who is able to read history can tell us the bright side and give us the formula for winning.

Within the last year, many of our public prints have retold the story of Napoleon's failure in Russia. That dismal business seems like current news, for the pattern of it is almost exactly the pattern of Hitler's failure.

Napoleon's generals, like Hitler's, tried to dissuade him, but he, like Hitler, was deaf to reason because experience had taught him to expect easy victory. His veterans were unbeatable.

People said airplanes and motorized vehicles would change everything, but cold and distance and typhus and the Russian soldier have not changed.

Hitler, like Napoleon, won victory after victory and expected surrender. But the Russians merely fell back, burning everything their enemies could have used, and waited in new positions to fight again.</

Covered an assignment at the Rotary Club luncheon Monday and was surprised to discover how many of the old boys I remembered—and called—by their first names. And even more surprised to discover how many remembered me.

Time was when I knew everybody in town—or thereabouts. Town was smaller then—and I got around more.

Rotary was smaller then—under Bill Brownlee's presidency. I used to drop in frequently—on assignment.

They were initiating a couple of new members one day. The requirement was that this fresh meat should start pointing down one table after another and name everybody present, his given name, his last name, and his job. And they had to stand far enough back so they couldn't read the big badges.

The initiates fell down terribly. Brownlee asked me to stand up. "Here's a man who isn't even a Rotarian and he can beat that a mile," said Bill. "Dudley, start in on that long table."

Your reporter began calling them off. Why not? He'd known all of them, somewhere. He was getting hoarse, when the president interrupted him.

"That'll be plenty," he said. "You're a walking dictionary."

But, friends and gentle readers, that was a long time ago. Brownlee was in the piano business—he afterward went into soft drinks in a big way. Rotary wasn't so terribly big.

It was different Monday. Rotary had doubled in size and there were so many new faces. New, that is, to me. People I'd never heard of, though doubtless they're big shots. Maybe they'd never heard of me.

either, which gives all of us a break. But it was mighty nice to greet 30 or 40 of the men I used to know.

Hampton Is O. K.

Several days ago—it was last week—H. Breedlove left upon my desk a bunch of memoranda about Hampton, Ga., down Griffin way. Next day he came in to see me. He said Hampton was on the up and up and growing and a new equipment plant with 400 employees would be asked to double its capacity. And Hampton needed a weekly newspaper.

Always enthusiastic about finding a newspaperman a job, I printed Mr. Breedlove's remarks. So far, so good. But I made an error in quoting him as saying Hampton had been asleep for 25 years—which he did say, in writing—and was just now waking up to her possibilities.

Day or two later I received a telegram—prepaid—demanding "correction, investigation and apology concerning write-up about Hampton."

It was signed by A. L. Cain and dated from Griffin, Ga. It was followed up by a registered letter, which I had to tramp over to the post office to get—and it was a mighty cold day—which should punish me enough.

I'd quoted Mr. Breedlove as saying there was no good drug store in Hampton. Which was silly, because I don't know whether Hampton has the finest drug store in the southeast or not. Mr. Cain, my new correspondent, says Hampton has one of the best drug stores in Georgia and he ought to know because he owns it.

I herewith apologize, abjectly, to Mr. Cain and the population of Hampton. On looking over my few paragraphs, I think they're about 90 per cent complimentary to Hampton, but I wouldn't make a point of that.

Still, I do hope that Hampton actually does need a good weekly newspaper and that one of my friends runs it, with profit. Not me! I wouldn't know how to get started.

BE SURE YOUR WASTE IS TRULY WASTE ONLY

Editor, Constitution: On account of the campaign for the collection of waste paper there is grave danger that papers of much historical value may be discarded. All persons in charge of official records as well as the public at large should exercise great care in disposing of what they may consider waste paper. The chairman of the National Committee on the Conservation of Cultural Resources, says:

"The preservation of documents important for historical research, whether it be economic, sociological, geographical, genealogical, or of other kinds, must be maintained. Such documents will be so few in proportion to the quantity of waste paper, wrappings, and boxes available that efforts to save them will not impair the success of the paper conservation campaign."

FEARS EVIL EFFECT OF CONGRESS PENSIONS

Editor, Constitution: I am glad to see "The Pulse of the People" is beating with outraged violence on account of the shameful and shameless "Congressional Pension Grab" recently foisted upon the tax payers of our nation by those whom we had the right to regard as the custodians of our liberty and the conservators of the material resources of the people. The cards of T. B. Higdon and Parker Hord in recent issues of your paper express the sentiment of thousands of our citizens, and Ralph McGill's article on the subject will bring a thunderous amen from a countless multitude.

Not only have Andrew Jackson and other great worthies turned over in their graves at this crass betrayal of a public trust, but legions of those who have not yet gone to their last abode have "turned over" in their minds concerning those for whom they intend to vote at the next congressional elections. The far-flung evil moral effect of this action is beyond computation. I heard one patriotic housewife say: "Here! Take this accumulation of waste material that I have been collecting for weeks and burn it up in the furnace! Why should I save for defense when the representatives of our government are feathering their nest for life at the expense of the distressed taxpayers of the country!" I greatly fear that sentiment will be re-echoed by countless millions.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

YESSIR! IT'S OKAY. Harry McCord sent me a clipping the other day with this penciled observation: "This is smart."

The clipping: "There have been many tales that emphasize the value of Elmer Wheeler's injunction: 'Sell the Sizzle, not the Steak!' Few, however, pack the wallop of a story recently told by Walter Lowen in This Week. A maker of birdhouses was barely eking out a living, when a friend suggested that he carve a few words over the door of his birdhouses, and now he has to have a helper to keep up with his orders. The words: 'To let—for a Song'."

Yessir! That is smart. I have been wondering how I could manage to put that phrase over the entrance to the half-dozen birdhouses in our backyard. The very day I got the note from Mr. McCord, I read this quotation from one of the ancient Chinese philosophers: "It is better to light candles than to curse the darkness."

And I submit that there is plenty in that couplet to think about. Speaking of the Chinese, I saw this bit of humor attributed to some Chinese writer: "Funny people, you Americans. You take a glass, put sugar in to make it sweet and lemon to make it sour; you put your tea in hot

CONGRESS PENSIONS. RIGHT NOW, OUTRAGEOUS! Editor, Constitution: It is unbelievable that the legislative body of our government should be so busy voting themselves pensions for life, and especially in these critical times.

Labor Suggests War Industries Board for City

Dollar Patriotism and Lack of Co-operation Flayed by Group.

Headline hunting, dollar patriotism and lack of unity and co-operation on the part of local governments, capital and civic leadership in obtaining war production industries for Atlanta were criticized caustically yesterday as the executive board of the Atlanta Federation of Trades urged creation of a war industries board to promote war industries.

Under the executive board's plan, capital, labor and government would be represented so that after the war "the metropolitan area will not suffer from blight and haphazard planning and thinking."

Albert Gossett, president of the federation, explained that the resolution seeks to avoid cut-throat competition between local governments over location of vital defense industries and promotion of real estate ventures. The resolution was signed by Gossett, William M. Kemp, William A. Cetti, W. W. Turner, E. L. Abercrombie, William Van Houten and Paul Chipman, members of the executive board.

The board also urged: No further negotiation for industrial plants as a speculative venture.

No further promotion of so-called sites at great distances from the great mass of labor living within the metropolitan area of the city.

No further disunity of effort, haphazard planning and search in obtaining potential war industries. That city and county officials and Chamber of Commerce officials cease cross-purpose striving in advancing their respective advantages and co-operate for the good of all.

But that does not appear so strange when it is remembered that we put windows in our houses to let in the light and air, and turn right around and put in shades to keep the light out and weatherstrips to keep the air out.

Men spend thousands of dollars to grow hair on their heads and start off every day by cutting it off their chins.

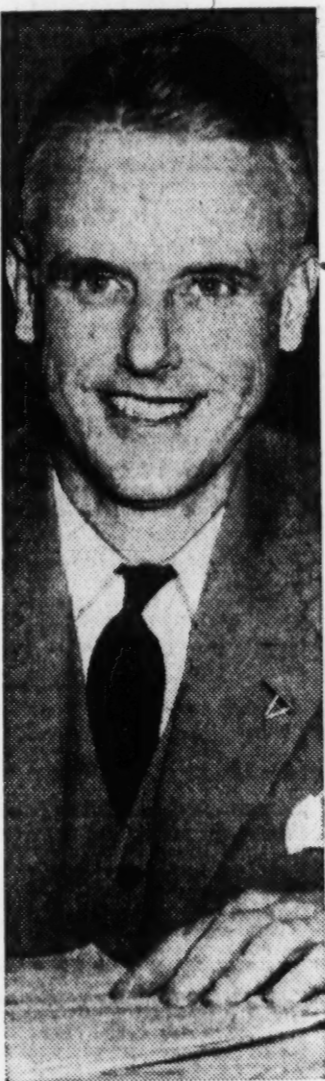

Turning now, for the rest of the column, to remarkable remarks in current magazines, take this one by Hamilton Mabie in Parade: "Don't be afraid of opposition. Remember, a kite rises against, not with, the wind."

Or this one by Marcel Proust in Reader's Digest: "A wintry sun crept in to warm itself before the fire."

And from Radio Patter, this question: "Is that your original face, or a retread?"

Joe Williams offers this one: "A cannon barked, then settled back on its haunches." And E. J. Rath takes the cake with this: "She gave her husband a married look."

Defense Chief Takes Up Duties

By WILLARD COPE.

Civilian defense—the most important job Americans can perform at home, even if the necessity for it never materializes—is going to hum in the eight southeastern states.

A virile, youthful, driving personage—though slight, somewhat gray and quiet spoken—came to town modestly yesterday and took over as regional director for the Fourth Corps Area of the National Office of Civilian Defense.

He is Charles H. Murchison, who, until President Roosevelt approved his appointment Monday to new duties, was Florida counsel for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with headquarters in Jacksonville.

Explains Objective.

Taking the tactful view that a good job of organizing civilian defense at home, even done in Georgia and the southeast, the director said he was looking forward exclusively and meant to energize the whole populace of his region.

"Not by spectacular methods," he explained, "but by earnest attention to the essential business of organizing. Not by speeches, but by performance. Not by giving glamour to the individual defense volunteer's job, but by stressing its honorable, essential, if somewhat lowly, character."

"It is possible for the man in this post to go out and make speeches and get the individual enthused temporarily and assigned to work. But as the volunteer does his stint night after night, with nothing happening, something of his enthusiasm will be dissipated unless it arises from a stronger substance than words. I mean to keep quiet and saw hard wood in the most effective way I know how."

His office is the way-station between the national headquarters and the state defense organizations. Hence, the director first will move about the south, how-dying with the governors who head these eight groups and giving them the old needle. He'll visit Governor Dixon, of Alabama, today.

Will Better Citizenry.

"Even if no enemy plane ever flies over our land, if no bomb ever falls upon our homes, the defense work will be a distinguished contribution to his country by the average citizen. He will be the better for it, and so will his country. He will never know how much the absence of disaster may have been due to the fact of preparedness."

"But if disaster does come and finds us unprepared, it will be a matter of deepest shame."

It is no part of the government's responsibility to take over the local setup, he believes.

"Governors and mayors are charged with the safety of their people. We are just going to help out. We in the south believe in the decentralized, state's rights theory. We will, however, expand the services we offer to the states and local communities. Trained men and women will be available to help train local workers."

Unemployment Rises 400,000 in January

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The WPA said today that despite the accelerated war production effort the number of unemployed had risen by 400,000 in January and now totaled 4,200,000.

This was accounted for, the WPA said, by seasonal factors in agriculture and retail trade, combined with "economic dislocation resulting from the war."

Red Cross War Fund Swelled To $281,395

Four Contributions Raise Total in Drive Here by $737.26.

Four contributions totaling $737.26 yesterday brought the total local Red Cross War Fund to $281,395.56.

A. L. Zachry sent a check for $100 with the statement that a talk by Dr. Pierce Harris at a meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association last week was directly responsible.

Kort McPherson officers and men gave $381.76, and a check for $150 came from RKO-Radio Pictures, Inc., and one for $105 from Southern Bell Telephone Company.

Total contributions from the residential areas amounted to about $15,000 yesterday.

Mrs. James F. Gray, chairman of the drive in Hapeville, said that city had already raised more than $500 and that the fund is still growing. From now on, it was said, money raised in Hapeville will be given in memory of men killed in action at Pearl Harbor. Bill Manley, Hapeville youth, was one of those who died.

Prices Fixed For Sale of Oil Products

Retail Transactions Not Including in Freezing Order.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The government today fixed prices on petroleum and petroleum products, including gasoline, for all transactions except retail sales.

Effective immediately, prices were frozen at levels posted for crude petroleum and the lowest quoted for petroleum products on October 1, 1941. These levels already prevailed generally as a result of OPA requests and voluntary agreements with the industry.

Exempted from the schedule were asphalt, industrial lubricating oils, industrial naphthas and solvents, greases and specialty products such as household oils and spot-removers.

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 3.—The name of Boyce M. Grier, city school superintendent here since 1929 and outstanding member of Rotary International since 1921, is being presented to Georgia Rotarians for their consideration as governor of the 165th district.

Known to his friends as "Red," Mr. Grier is a past president of the Georgia Education Association; past president of the Elberton and Athens Rotary clubs; has served two terms on the governor's council.

A member of the summer school faculty at the university for a number of years, he is a past president of both the G. E. A. and of the Georgia School Administrators' Association.

Rivers to Speak In Athens to Students' Club

Congressman Dies Also Invited To Address Government Club.

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Former Governor E. D. Rivers will address the Student Progressive Government Club here Thursday night, Jim Paulk, chairman, announced today.

Rivers and Congressman Martin Dies have been invited to speak to the club on the spring program, Paulk said. Dies was asked to speak to the club because of having "pioneered in running down and exposing subversive movements in this country," Paulk said.

Rivers was invited "because his administration marked the biggest swing to government as an agency of public service, instead of primarily regulatory agency, in Georgia," Paulk said.

The Student Progressive Government Club was organized to "study government in relation to the everyday lives of the people," Paulk said, "and our program includes talks by various state and national governmental leaders of all political factions."

2,700 Attend Opening Session Of Constitution Cooking School

Standing-Room-Only Audience Learns Woman's Most Efficient Ornaments in War Are Simple, Homey Things.

By CELESTINE SIBLEY.

A standing-room-only audience of Atlanta women crowding the Roxy theater yesterday for the opening of The Constitution's four-day cooking school learned that a woman's most efficient ornaments in this war are relatively simple, homey things—a cheerful room, a gay, silly hat, roast and chocolate cake.

Led by Mrs. Mabel B. Bowen, the cooking school lecturer, a group of specialists on the woman's job were introduced by Sally Saver, The Constitution's cooking editor, to give an estimated 2,700 women tips on handling their wartime assignments more effectively.

Home Furnishing Advice. Sue Sullins, interior decorator of national reputation, was presented by Myers-Dickson Furniture Company to give practical advice on home furnishing problems. Concentrating on color, Miss Sullins illustrated her talk with samples of drapery material and rugs, urging her listeners to give full play to their own tastes and to make their homes bright and individual.

Ed. a Lee, well-known Regenstein's Peachtree style expert, put the problem of looking their best squarely up to the women as a duty in wartime. She cited the case of the women of Britain who responded "rapidly—but a little grimly" to the call of duty when war was declared and learned later the importance of cosmetics and smart appealing clothes as a morale-builder. Mrs. Lee, who along with Miss Sullins will appear daily on The Constitution cooking school program, presented 11 stunning models in a parade of fashion. Yesterday's parade featured colorful spring suits and coat and dress ensembles; topped inevitably by the gayest, most beguiling hats to be found.

Audience Gives Pledge. Mrs. Bowen, a wife and mother who specialized in nutrition and dietetics at some of the best schools in the country but actually put her knowledge to work on her own family, struck the keynote of the school in the pledge which she asked the audience to repeat.

The "Pledge of Health" follows: "I pledge on my honor as an American that I will do all I can to build myself and my family and my neighbors into stronger and healthier Americans as God meant us to be." The pledge, issued by the Federal Office of Defense, Health and Welfare Services, is reprinted on the programs which are issued daily to the women attending the school.

Mrs. Bowen, assisted by Miss Marie A. Moser, moved swiftly through the preparation of a complete oven meal, which she cooked in a gas range loaned by the Atlanta Gas Light Company. Explaining every movement as she cooked, the nutrition expert found time enough for timely advice on shopping, correct use and care of equipment and methods of food preparation. She skillfully knitted her practical suggestions together with a thread of light-hearted humor.

School Is Accredited. Foods which Mrs. Bowen prepared yesterday and which Sally Saver presented to members of the audience at the close of the program, included individual crown roasts, Florida beets and green peas, apple and cheese pudding, liberty salad made with halves of canned pears and cream cheese, soft molasses cookies and a buffet party cake with double boiler chocolate frosting. For good measure she made up a batch of pastry mix which she advised the homemakers to keep on their pan-

Baptists To Seek Endowment Fund

MACON, Ga., Feb. 3.—A $12,000 loan to cover 1942 operating expenses in the endowment campaign for Baptist colleges in the state has been endorsed by the executive committee of the Georgia Baptist convention, Mercer University officials announced Tuesday.

The action follows a recent meeting, at which decision against a survey of the schools was rendered.

The original endowment committee of five is being enlarged to 17, it was also disclosed. Colleges included in the proposed benefits are Mercer, Norman, Brewton-Parker, Bessie Tift and Shorter.

The Constitution Cooking School has been designated as an accredited course for American Women's Voluntary Services members, and several hundred of them registered for the course yesterday. Mrs. Charles H. Jagels, general chairman of the Atlanta unit of the A. W. V. S., was introduced to the audience by Sally Saver, and she made a brief talk expressing appreciation for the opportunity members have to get important instruction in foods.

A. W. V. S. Registration. Mrs. Willard Patterson, who will be introduced to the audience today, announced yesterday that A. W. V. ## Peanut Release For Seed Crop Urged by Pace House Committee Favors Use of 60,000 Tons for Seed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Legislation to allow the Department of Agriculture to release approximately 60,000 tons of peanuts to farmers for seed purposes was approved today by the House Agriculture Committee.

Under provisions of the bill, introduced by Representative Pace, of Georgia, the seed will be sold at its cost to the government and will not be subject to tax.

Pace said the legislation was made necessary to forestall a seed shortage resulting from the department's request that peanut growers increase production this year to 5,000,000 acres compared with last year's acreage of approximately 1,900,000. The extra acreage, Pace said, is necessary to provide more peanuts for crushing to obtain vegetable oil for defense purposes.

The department's peanut holdings, the Georgian told the committee, were obtained from excess acreage of last year's crop. Under existing law, excess acreage is subject to a tax of $60 per ton unless sold to government agencies for crushing.

Normally, Pace explained, use of the excess for seed would make it subject to the tax.

"The department's request for more acreage caught the farmers without enough seed to meet it," he said, "and legislation was necessary to permit the use of the government-owned peanuts for seed. The present holdings are expected to be enough to meet the department's new demands."

Disinterment Refusal Upheld by U. S. Jury. A family's refusal to permit disinterment more than two months after a man's death, despite demand by an insurance organization, was upheld in a federal jury's verdict filed yesterday in United States district court.

The jury awarded $5,000 damages to Mrs. Ella Moore, widow of John Williamson Moore, whose neck was broken in an automobile accident near Orlando August 27, 1940. The defendant, Order of United Commercial Travelers of America, insisted it should have been permitted to have an autopsy. It also contended the injury was not the direct cause of death.

Congress Gets $500,000,000 China Aid Bill

House Group Pins Note to Measure Praising War Gallantry.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A $500,000,000 blank check for immediate aid to China was sent to congress by the House Foreign Affairs Committee today, together with a tribute to Chinese forces which "have heroically and with great sacrifice resisted a ruthless invasion."

It was exactly 24 hours after President Roosevelt requested the unrestricted fund that the committee approved unanimously legislation to authorize the appropriation and administration leaders laid everything else aside to bring it before the house tomorrow.

Earlier the committee had heard four cabinet members and a representative of a fifth discuss recent political and military movements behind closed doors.

"These developments," the committee said, "fully justify the financial aid which this joint resolution would authorize."

Appearing before the committee were Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Federal Loan Administrator Jones, Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of Navy Knox and Breckenridge Long, assistant to Secretary of State Hull.

Full Strength For Guard Units Seen in Laurens

Only Few Vacancies Still Unfilled in Defense Companies.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. DUBLIN, Ga., Feb. 3.—Laurens county's two State Guard companies were nearing full strength today, providing one of the best local defense setups in Georgia.

Under direction of Captain Charles A. Hodges, recruiting had been so successful that only two or three vacancies now exist in each company, and it was stated that qualified men who yet wish to join should do so at once.

In addition to the two companies whose full strength would be 30 men each, Dublin is headquarters for District 24 of the State Guards, and district officers are stationed here.

Major Marshall A. Chapman is commander of District 24, which includes seven counties, and members of his staff are Captain J. F. Pierce, Lieutenant Wilbur S. Jones, Lieutenant Guy V. Cochran and Lieutenant M. H. Blackshear Junior.

Company commanders in the Laurens county unit are Lieutenant Walter Jackson and Acting Lieutenant Hartley Hobbs.

The local companies have become known over the district as crack drill teams, as Company 1 men spent an hour and a half Monday night and Company 2 the same length of time each Tuesday night going through their paces. Winter uniforms have recently been issued to the personnel.

Men qualified for leadership in the State Guards must be 21 years old or over, and hold a deferred draft rating.

Coffee County Schools On 6-Day Week Basis

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. DOUGLAS, Ga., Feb. 3.—At a special session of the Coffee County Board of Education last week, it was ordered that all schools in the county system be put on a six-day week basis from now until the end of the current term.

The action was taken after the patrons of the schools had been consulted and is the result of changed conditions growing out of the war situation. Reports coming from various school districts indicate that more than 95 per cent of all the patrons of the schools in Coffee county favor the change.

The new ruling means that schools will be out about three weeks earlier in the spring, and it is hoped that the earlier date will enable many farmers to keep their children in school who might otherwise be forced to withdraw from to help with work on the farm.

Floyd Members Named On State Guard Units

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. ROME, Ga., Feb. 3.—Appointment of 19 members of Floyd county units of the Georgia State Guard to serve as range officers and instructors was announced here today by Lieutenant A. K. Taylor, range officer for the 27th district.

They include Corporal R. H. Hanson, Privates Funderburk and W. M. White, of Unit 156; Sergeant J. W. Knowles, Corporal C. M. Brown and Privates J. W. Mathis and W. P. Watson, of Unit 194; Corporal J. E. Johnston and Corporal H. C. Painter, of Unit 195; Sergeant J. T. Fries and Corporal C. H. White, of Unit 196; C. W. Reid, of Unit 212; Sergeant T. D. Caldwell, Sergeant C. W. Hanson and Sergeant Nick Sunrich, of Unit 220; Sergeant R. L. Curry and Sergeant J. A. Gruver, of Unit 249; Sergeant H. J. Lesser and Private J. B. Sullivan, of Unit 52 (Signal Corps).

RUSH FOR TAGS.

ROME, Ga., Feb. 3.—While delinquents were rushing the Rome post office to buy United States vehicle tax stamps before being penalized, the "early birds" were rushing the city clerk's office to get their 1942 city auto tags. Motorists may obtain city tags free as soon as they obtain their state licenses, but all automobile and truck operators in the city must get their city tags. City Clerk F. L. Sammons warned.

What Stocks Did

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Stocks generally took a few more bites at recovery in today's market although the buying appetite still was somewhat restrained.

Further selective advancing tendencies appeared at the opening and, while lagging, were plentiful, gains of fractions to a point predominated at the close. Dealings again were relatively sluggish but they at least topped the aggregate of the preceding session, lowest since last June.

The Associated Press average of 48 issues was up .1 of a point at 37.8. Transfers totaled 373,820 shares compared with 330,270 the day before.

The principal buying handicap, brokers said, was the fear Singapore would be unable to hold out on the face of the Japanese siege. On the other hand, the MacArthur stand in the Philippines was cheering and hopes reinforcements would be on the way revived bullishness to some extent.

Gainers in a moderately mixed curb included Bell Aircraft, American Gas, Electric Bond and Share, Humble Oil and Mesabi Iron, a trifle under water were Brewster Aero, Glen Alden Coal and Penn-rail.

What Bonds Did

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The bond market drifted idly in a narrow range again today after an earlier attempt to rally the rails fizzled and increased offerings appeared in other groups.

Four of the five major groups in the Associated Press averages ended unchanged.

The rails were down .1 of a point. Total sales of $6,000,000, a par value, were moderately ahead of $5,439,000 on Monday.

The day's trading gave further evidence of extensive switching operations, both from group to group and from one issue to another of the same company.

United States governments followed the same narrow pattern. Changes on the corporate division, exchange and over the counter were mostly less than .1 point and the trend lacked uniformity.

RETURNS TO CONTINENTAL

Continental, president of Continental Distilling Corporation, Philadelphia, announces the appointment of R. Robert Smith as vice president in charge of operations and advertising. Mr. Smith re-establishes his connection with the Philadelphia firm after an absence of two years.

Previously Mr. Smith spent six years with Continental, first as advertising manager and later as sales manager. His activities in these capacities have taken him to the far corners of the country, so he is well acquainted with the wholesale and retail trade and the various phases of the liquor industry.

Mr. Smith rejoins Continental with an experience in advertising and merchandising extending over a period of more than 20 years.

ELLIS VICE PRESIDENT
The annual meeting of the DeKalb County Federal Savings and Loan Association held recently was featured by the election of Ruthven L. Ellis as vice president. Four new directors were named as follows: Dr. Sam Guy, Von W. Thompson, Dr. Colquhoun and B. Hugh Burgess.

Although this association is comparatively new, it has aided many homeowners in the purchase of their homes. The association is a credit to the community and reflects credit to the officers of the association.

The president, Judge Shepard Bryan, presided at the meeting and submitted a report covering the activities of the association during 1941.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths cotton today at 10 1/2 cents was 13 points higher at 18.83 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days, 18.83; middling 7-8ths-inch average, 18.69.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Cotton futures rallied today after a heavy selling movement and sharp price declines of the past week. Final prices were up 45 to 75 cents a bale.

Brokers explained the market appeared thoroughly sold out and stronger technically after the recent losses.

While offerings were sparse, buyers still were timid as they awaited an announcement by the Commodity Corporation outlining cotton offerings for February.

Brokers saw a chance that the farm bill might act vigorously to try to prevent government disposal of loan stocks, but it was felt the position to keep most farm prices under parity instead of the 110 per cent of parity advocated by farm leaders.

Port receipts, 38,889 bales; port stocks, 3,334,002.

Steve Tells Linda The "Contract Is Over"

INSTALLMENT I.

"Don't you think you're carrying the irate husband angle a trifle too far? As I recall, our marriage was purely a business agreement and our lives were to be separate. I haven't asked you any questions about Brenda Coleman, although I know you've been seeing her, and now you shouldn't interfere in my affairs."

"Seeing Brenda?" He was puzzled. "I saw you today, having lunch together when you were supposed to be in New York." Linda suddenly wished that she could recall her words. Better that Steve wouldn't think she was jealous. "I can explain that," Steve said easily. "I got a long-distance call, telling me the conference had been postponed. I called the station, but they said your train was already in, and I just happened to run into Brenda on the street, so—"

"I'm really not interested," Linda snapped. Steve stared after her retreating figure until Linda had vanished into her bedroom, and the door slamming in his face was apparently the cue for him to sink wearily into a chair, his face buried in his hands that trembled.

In the seclusion of her room, Linda cried heartbrokenly into her pillow. What if Steve had been telling the truth? But no. It was too fantastic. Too good an explanation. There had been tenderness, gentleness in his face as he lunched with Brenda in that secluded spot.

Emerging later, Linda found her husband seated at the desk, engrossed in work. She said gently: "I'm sorry, Steve. I didn't mean all the nasty things I said."

For a moment he looked at her, seeing the shining evening gown topped by a silver fox jacket, then his eyes moved slowly upward to her face and Linda knew with certainty that he would never again see her as she really was, but as the woman she pretended to be.

"It's almost over—the adventure," she whispered to herself, steeling her nerves for another attack of bitter tears. Instead, Steve's voice was overly polite. He seemed to be talking to a stranger.

"There's no apology needed," he assured her. "I understand your position, and you should be happy to know that your—your bondage ends in a few more months—three to be exact. Then you will be free to choose your own course."

"Bondage?" Linda called out for 12 months of marriage. At the end of that time—"Steve," she broke in, casting her pride to the winds in one last attempt to make him understand. "I want to tell you that I—"

The telephone's shrill ring interrupted her. Automatically, Linda lifted the receiver to her ear, with Steve looking at her, Linda's expression changing from one of pleading to hardness.

"Is Steve there?" a familiar voice was saying. Linda handed him the telephone. She turned and left the room, left the apartment, left the things which might have cleared away all doubt and misunderstanding, and paved the way to marital happiness for Linda and Steve.

Linda awakened the next morning with a feeling of depression. Her heart was heavy and she tried desperately to forget all that had happened the night before. But the remembrance of Steve's bitter words could not be cast aside. They remained, a wound in her heart.

Greg had proved to be an amusing companion. Dancing at Chicago's most famous roof garden, Linda had tried to share his banalities, but unsuccessfully. Yet, if Greg knew something was amiss he gave no sign. At last, when Linda could no longer stand the noise and gaiety which seemed to revolve around her, she had said pathetically:

"Will you take me home, please, Greg? I'm not feeling very well."

"Your trip must have been too much for you," Greg said gently. All in all he was a different person from the supercilious young man whose stay in Prairieville had created so much excitement. But every thought now was for Linda's comfort, and although she could feel no respect for a man who had caused her such heartbreak, still she admired his determination to win her favor.

Greg had made no move to take her in his arms when he stopped his car before the apartment house. That, too, had been a surprise, but she supposed Greg was biding his time, awaiting the proper opportunity.

"Good-night, dear," he whispered tenderly, not knowing now Linda revolved against those words. Still, she had nodded and smiled, and hurried away.

Passing the library door, she saw the narrow strip of light that indicated Steve was still awake, and Linda hesitated, yearning to enter the room. Inside the study, Steve sitting hunched over his desk, lifted his head expectantly at the slight sound, his attitude one of watchful waiting.

Then came the sound of footsteps retreating, the soft rustle of silk, and the almost undistinguishable click as Linda's bedroom door closed after her, and the vital moment was passed.

Until dawn Linda had turned and tossed restlessly, trying to forget all that had been said. Then, at last, she had slept.

Ellen appeared shortly after Linda had awakened, bringing a breakfast tray and the morning paper.

"Where is Mr. Baridon this morning?" Linda asked automatically.

"I don't know, Madam," the maid was apologetic. "He left early without saying where he was going. He looked—worried, if you'll pardon me for saying so."

Linda had not heard her. In the act of turning newspaper pages, she stopped, her eyes frozen to a page.

"Is something wrong, ma'am?" Ellen asked. "You're white as a sheet and trembling so!"

Linda could not tear her eyes from the page. There was Brenda's picture—a picture obviously taken on her honeymoon. Across the page were the words:

Seeks Divorce from Wealthy Manufacturer. So Jerry had lost, in his battle to hold Brenda.

Linda's senses reeled. Her first thought was disbelief. Jerry Coleman had been so positive in his declaration that he would never free Brenda. Linda was reading avidly. Brenda was flying to Reno to obtain her divorce decree.

Jerry, after admitting the break, had locked himself in his mansion and could not be reached. It was true!

Linda flung the papers down and tried to collect her thoughts. Her own troubles were forgotten temporarily. She dismissed Ellen and found the telephone number that would reach Jerry. She was not sure what she would say to him if he could be reached. He had been kind to her. Now she could be equally considerate.

"Mr. Coleman is out," the Coleman butler said. "Tell him—tell him it's Linda Baridon calling."

She waited anxiously, to hear Jerry's voice over the wire at last. Jerry sounded harassed and uncertain, and she said impulsively: "I've just seen the papers, Mr. Coleman. Is there anything—anything I can do or say that will help?"

She heard his quick intake of breath before he said pitifully, "I'm afraid there's nothing anyone can say now."

'Bugs' Baer Says:

When the epic of American courage on the sea is finally told it will make Captain Bilge and his game men look like merry gondo- lers.

Included in the American saga are women, children and babies. For Adolf is the first well-poison- er to go to sea.

When the time comes for Adolf to pay the piper, the flutes and flutes will be many and shrill.

Some day we will give Adolf a chance to boss the ocean. But he will have to start at the bottom and work his way up.

P. S. The deepest part of the Pacific is off Mindanao. They tell me that about 30,000 Japs did a bit of permanent wading there.

and tried to collect her thoughts. Her own troubles were forgotten temporarily. She dismissed Ellen and found the telephone number that would reach Jerry. She was not sure what she would say to him if he could be reached. He had been kind to her. Now she could be equally considerate.

"Mr. Coleman is out," the Coleman butler said. "Tell him—tell him it's Linda Baridon calling."

She waited anxiously, to hear Jerry's voice over the wire at last. Jerry sounded harassed and uncertain, and she said impulsively: "I've just seen the papers, Mr. Coleman. Is there anything—anything I can do or say that will help?"

She heard his quick intake of breath before he said pitifully, "I'm afraid there's nothing anyone can say now."

Your Horoscope for Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS, Noted Atlanta Astrologist.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21st and April 19th (ARIES)—The entire day is filled with influences that produce idealism and little regard for pure facts. Therefore, new beginnings, encounters and daily occurrences may have meanings that are below the surface. Not an especially auspicious day for new undertakings or assuming added financial responsibilities.

April 20th and May 20th (TAURUS)—During the entire day and until 9:11 p. m. does not especially favor new beginnings. Travel, changes or writings should be well considered before entering into them. After 9:11 p. m. favors social activities.

May 21st and June 20th (GEMINI)—The entire day until 7:33 p. m. favors a progressive spirit in industrial affairs, finances, educational and legal affairs, but suggests caution in works around liquids, chemicals and drugs. Be careful of your health during the evening hours.

June 21st and July 22nd (CANCER)—Before 2:41 p. m. the day operates previous to 12:44 p. m. making this a favorable period for work of a mental nature, travel and communications. The period past 12:44 p. m. suggests sticking to routine.

August 23rd and September 22nd (LIBRA)—You may not find it easy to come to agreements previous to 1 p. m. so care should be given to travel, business and living. After 1 p. m. favors private affairs, communications and things that have been hard to complete.

September 23rd and October 22nd (SCORPIO)—You may not find it easy to come to agreements previous to 1 p. m. so care should be given to travel, business and living. After 1 p. m. favors private affairs, communications and things that have been hard to complete.

October 23rd and November 21st (SAGITTARIUS)—Before 10:51 a. m. favors quick changes and decisions. After 10:51 a. m. favors general business interests and for making harmonious arrangements with others.

November 22nd and December 21st (CAPRICORN)—The day through 6:45 p. m. favors energetic and aggressive efforts along business and industrial lines, for literary works and constructive efforts along new lines of endeavor. The period past 6:45 p. m. favors sociability and romantic interests.

December 22nd and January 19th (AQUARIUS)—The day through 6:45 p. m. favors energetic and aggressive efforts along business and industrial lines, for literary works and constructive efforts along new lines of endeavor. The period past 6:45 p. m. favors sociability and romantic interests.

January 20th and February 18th (PISCES)—If you will turn your energies today towards calm matters or affairs that are matured slowly, you will make much progress. An excellent day for making new plans to be carried out later.

February 19th and March 20th (ARIES)—If you have someone special to contact and you want your interview to proceed smoothly, make your engagement before 11:08 a. m. Between 11:08 a. m. and 12:06 p. m. favors work requiring mental activity.

2d Bicycle Parade

The leaders of the bicycle parade next Sunday are going to bring up the rear, paradoxical as that may sound.

When they go riding from the governor's mansion in Ansley park at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the young folks who like to ride fast will be first, leaving the elder and more decrepit to pedal on to Grant Park as slowly as their wind demands.

So pronounced Councilman Howard Haire, who is president of the newly-founded Bicycle Riding Club, which resulted from the big parade of cyclists last Sunday. It seems the more aged do not want to race, like the boys and girls do.

Haire said the Governor, Alderman R. E. Drennon, Councilman John A. White and other officials will join in the jaunt from the mansion to Grant park and return.

Gehrig Widow In Sports Talk On Allen Show

Monty Woolley, Broadway Comedy Star, Guest on Radio.

Mrs. Lou Gehrig, Monty Woolley and Syracuse Student-Star Joyce Crabtree are Fred Allen's special guests in the Columbia coast-to-coast "Star Theater" tonight at 9 o'clock over WGST.

They join the regular Allen air array—Tenor Kenny Baker, Portland Hoffa, Al Goodman and the "Workshop Players"—in an hour-long melodic and mirthful program.

Mrs. Gehrig, widow of the beloved "Iron Horse" of the New York Yankees, is to talk to the myriads of sports devotees among Fred's millions of radio fans. She is appearing on behalf of Navy relief.

Monty Woolley, who has scored tremendously in both stage and screen versions of the incisive "Man Who Came to Dinner," is cooking up a tasty dish of "gastro-nomic" goodies with Allen serving the tart trimmings.

Jan Peerce Sings 'Pagliacci' Arias

Jan Peerce, Metropolitan Opera tenor who has been on a concert tour the last three weeks, rejoins the "Great Moments in Music" cast tonight, when excerpts from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" are given over WGST at 10:15 o'clock.

Peerce sings the role of the strolling player, the clown, whose fierce jealousy of his wife causes him to murder her. Nedda, the wife, is portrayed by Jean Tonnysen, soprano, and Robert Weede, Metropolitan baritone, is assigned the dual role of Tonio, a deformed and villainous member of the troupe, and of Silvio, Nedda's suitor. George Sebastian conducts.

Among the excerpts to be sung are the melodious Prologue, the dramatic "Vesti la giubba," the lyric Bird Song, and the tragic finale of the opera.

Grable and Kate Smith Chat on Noon Program

Betty Grable, beautiful bombshell of the screen, will be interviewed by Kate Smith on her mid-day program when the Song-bird-commentator broadcasts from Miami, Fla., today at 12 noon, over the Columbia network and WGST. Kate Smith will quiz the lovely Hollywood star on preparations for the premiere of "Song of the Islands," her latest film, which will be adapted for the "Kate Smith Hour" Friday morning.

George Burns, celebrating a birthday anniversary last Tuesday, was caught unawares at the audience warm-up prior to the broadcast when three members of the cast, who work in animated cartoons, stepped to the microphone and wished him "Happy Birthday" in the strange voices they use on the screen.

The well-wishers were Clarence Nash, Mel Blanc and Phil Kramer who, on the screen, are Donald Duck, Porky Pig and Brooklyn Mouse, respectively.

Miss Gillooley Wins 'Glamor Title' 3d Time

Betty Shepard Runner-Up in Oglethorpe Supper Contest.

For the third consecutive year Marian Gillooley's slim brunet beauty has won for her the title of "Glamor Girl," prized honor of the Stormy Petrel popularity poll, annual superlatives contest conducted by the Oglethorpe University magazine.

Betty Shepard was the runner-up—and soon after turned her blonde tresses to pose for a picture, as a brunette.

Edward Link was chosen as the Petrel "Adonis," the crown bestowed on "the beauties," and June Johnson and Otis White earned the title of best-dressed man and woman. Bob Rivenbark, Petrel editor, was chosen the man most likely to succeed and Jane Aldrich won a landslide victory in the "Best All-Round Girl" voting.

Pete Maman beat the field of 23 candidates in the "Best All-Around Boy" competition. "Biggest Grind or Most Studious" was won by Dot Greene and John Brackett; Jane "Pineapples" Calmes, whose home is Paul Maui, Hawaii, marched off with the "Most Interesting" title, and Frances Carr won two titles, "Cutest" and "Best Athlete-Girl," and placed second in two other races.

The largest vote piled up for any one candidate was for Dot Weatherly, winner of the "Best Dancer" among the girls. It was a photo-finish for "Best Male Dancer," but Bob Elliott won over "Chip-Chop" Charles Monsour, famous for his original jitterbug dancing.

"Most Popular Prof" was won by Dr. M. H. Hunt; the students thought Frances Sheffield and Sherman Ward the "Couple Most in Love." "Dizziest" was won by Margaret Morris and "Most Original" by Jane Cannon.

Everyone had a favorite for the title of "Best Athlete-Boy" with Angelo Ferrario coming out on top and Charles Waller and Max Ivey taking second and third places, respectively.

Gallup Poll Reveals:

Identification Cards Favored

By GEORGE GALLUP.
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 3.—A substantial majority of American citizens polled in a nation-wide survey believe that everyone in the United States should be required to carry an identification card containing not only his picture but his fingerprints as well.

In Britain every man, woman and child has been required to carry a "national identity card" ever since September, 1940. Though fingerprints or pictures are not required, each card has code letters and a number matching those on a duplicate registration in the central identification bureau. Any person may be temporarily ordered to show his identity card at any time.

69 Per Cent Favor.

To determine how Americans would react to compulsory identification cards with fingerprints, the American Institute of Public Opinion put this question to a cross-section of voters from coast to coast:

"Do you believe everyone in the United States should be required to carry an identification card containing, among other things, his picture and his fingerprints?"

Results were:
Yes 69%
No 25%
Undecided 6%

If the results are based solely on the number with opinions, the vote would be 74 per cent in favor, 26 per cent opposed.

Favored in 1937.
The large favorable vote is undoubtedly explained by the fact that for many years the public has been ready to accept universal fingerprinting. As far back as 1937 an Institute survey found more than two-thirds of voters with opinions on the subject in favor of starting fingerprint records for everybody in the United States, a plan which J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation has been advocating for many years.

Universal fingerprinting is not a new idea. Argentina has fingerprints of her 18 million population. Brazil registers the fingerprints of all children.

Spotted Typhus Fever Spreads Into Germany
BERN, Switzerland, Feb. 3.—(AP) Spotted typhus has spread from the eastern front to Germany and the Nazi-occupied areas, the German Health Ministry announced today, listing 126 cases in Germany and 138 in the occupied eastern countries.

Injuries Fatal To Ex-Atlanta Man at Albany

D. L. Benton Dies After Car Leaves Highway.

ALBANY, Ga., Feb. 3.—(AP)—D. L. Benton, formerly of Atlanta, who traveled for the South Georgia Roofing Company of Thomasville, died in the Phoebe Putney Memorial hospital here early this afternoon. He was injured in an automobile accident west of Elmore in Baker county this morning.

Willie D. Lawson, also of Atlanta, who was in the car with Benton, was still in the hospital here. He was reported resting comfortably.

Sheriff M. C. Screws, of Baker county, said the car left the highway and went into a creek. Benton died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Funeral plans have not been made pending arrival of Mrs. Benton from Atlanta.

Benton had been living at Thomasville for about six months.

Rites Are Held For Leon Hewell

WASHINGTON, Ga., Feb. 3.—Funeral services for Leon Hewell, 44, were held Sunday from Sardis Baptist church, the Rev. T. A. Burrell officiating and with members of the Jerome Wooten Post of the American Legion acting as honorary pallbearers.

As youth of 17, Mr. Hewell enlisted in World War I, and while serving in France, was decorated for bravery. A native of Wilkes county, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Hewell, but for the past few years he had lived in Chicago and Detroit. He died in Detroit after a short illness.

Surviving are four brothers, A. M. Hewell, of Macon; B. H. Hewell, of Washington; Robert Hewell, of Avon Park, Fla.; and C. M. Hewell, of Monroe.

Jackson Court Term Opened at Jefferson

JEFFERSON, Ga., Feb. 3.—The regular February term of the Jackson county superior court was opened here yesterday, with Judge Clifford presiding, and Hope Stark, solicitor general.

The grand jury was organized, electing H. T. Mobley foreman and Joseph Johnson clerk.

Divorce and civil cases will be tried this week and criminal cases next week.

Today in Atlanta Churches

Business Women's Chapter of St. John's Episcopal church, College Park, meets at 7:45 o'clock tonight with Mrs. C. S. Jacobson, 929 N. College street.

St. Cecilia's Chapter of the Cathedral of St. Philip meets today at noon with Mrs. Lola M. Griffin, 1125 Hancock drive.

Rev. George D. Strohm, promotional director of the Missionary Training Institute, Nyack, N. Y., will speak at the Atlanta Gospel Tabernacle at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Social and regular business meeting of the Althean class of the First Baptist church will be held at 11 o'clock this morning with Mrs. E. F. Lindgren, 587 Martina drive.

Mothers' Class of Park Street Methodist church will hold its business meeting at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the Kidd classroom of the church.

Sacred Heart Chapel Guild will meet at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the assembly room.

Carroll Group To Seek Ruling On Health Unit

Supreme Court Will Be Asked To Pass on Legality of Board.

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
CARROLLTON, Ga., Feb. 3.—Legality of the act creating the Carroll County Health and Hospital Board will be tested in the Georgia supreme court before any personnel for the health department is employed, T. R. Luck, chairman of the Carroll county board which was created at the last session of the Georgia general assembly, said today.

Judge Lee B. Wyatt, of the Carroll superior court, Coweta circuit, has already ruled that the act is legal, according to Mr. Luck.

The supreme court test is being made because some taxpayers have not paid the taxes, protesting the legality of the act which imposed a three-mill levy on property to support the health department provided for in the Ellis health law and to set up a fund for the later erection of a county hospital.

Members of the board who are seeking the court test are Frank Pope, of Villa Rica; W. T. Freely, of Roopville; John H. Barr, of Bowdon; William Traylor and Mr. Luck, of Carrollton. Ex-officio members are W. H. Chappell, county commissioner; J. H. Giboney, county school superintendent; and Dr. H. L. Barker, county physician.

Strauss Talks To Kiwanis on OPA Objective

Optimists Here Talk on Civil Defense; Mims Addresses Civilians.

The government already has a "head start" toward preventing a post-war depression such as that which occurred in 1922, Oscar R. Strauss Jr., regional director of the Office of Price Administration, told Atlanta Kiwanians yesterday. Strauss explained the chief objectives of the OPA as "prevention of inflation during the war" and "prevention of business collapse" after the conflict. Prospects for achieving both objectives are much better than during World War I, he said.

Principal job of the department in Atlanta is investigation of prices and rationing. He warned that the public may be asked to do without many things in order to win the war, adding that America is the "pantry of democracy" as well as the "arsenal of democracy."

Defense was also the keynote yesterday at the Optimist Club meeting, where Carl D. Levy, vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, spoke on civilian defense.

At the Civitan luncheon in the Atlanta Athletic Club, Dr. Edwin Mims, of Vanderbilt University, spoke on Sidney Lanier in connection with the Georgia poet's birthday.

W. Spruill.

Mrs. Knight announces that training classes in the various units will begin in the immediate future.

Troup Citizens Gear Activities For Defense

Defense Council Formed and First-Aid Classes Open.

By MRS. CURTIS GLASS.
SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
LAGRANGE, Ga., Feb. 3.—The past few days of the home defense preparedness in LaGrange and Troup county, when, with the Christmas holidays over, the citizens settled down in earnest to gear their daily lives to a new pattern, with seriousness of purpose and will to help in any possible way upmost in the minds of all.

February begins with several hundred Troup women enrolled in first aid classes, one advanced first aid class recently organized; three classes being conducted in home nursing, with plans under way for several more to be begun when the nurses are authorized in Washington; Boy Scouts organized in collection of waste paper, with approximately 25,000 pounds having been gathered during the past three weeks; the Red Cross chapter established in new and larger quarters to accommodate the increased volume of work being done in sewing and knitting.

All schools and LaGrange College are geared to a definite program of defense activities; the sale of defense bonds and stamps is going forward all over the city at a good pace; the state guard, with snappy new uniforms, and a waiting list, drilling several nights a week, regardless of weather. The complete organization of the Troup County Citizens' Defense Council, headed by W. H. Turner Jr., was perfected, with a list of 4,000 names signed to date with the Home Defense registration program. The beginning in February of a course in extinguishing incendiary bombs, taught by specially trained firemen, and the organization, under Mrs. H. T. Quillian, of feeding and housing facilities throughout the entire town are also included.

One of LaGrange's last patriotic moves in January was disclosed today in an unofficial, purely voluntary move of high school students who have pledged themselves to give up all riding in cars for pleasure for the duration, and all acquainted with young America will realize the true spirit of sacrifice involved in this move.

Benning Corporal Is Crash Victim

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
COLUMBUS, Ga., Feb. 3.—Corporal Frank C. Pierce, 27, of the Military Police detachment, Fort Benning, died Monday morning at the city hospital of head injuries received in an automobile-truck crash on the Seale road in Phenix City Sunday night. Seven others were injured.

Corporal Pierce was a native of Blue Ridge, Ga. He enlisted in April, 1941.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief.
Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass out 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatism, pain, leg pain, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait until your doctor has told you that you have a kidney ailment. Get Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 out of 100 kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Atlanta Portia Is Admitted to Highest Court

Mrs. Dolly Lee Butler To Practice in U. S. Tribunal.

ADMITTED—Mrs. Dolly Lee Butler, well-known Atlanta lawyer, who has been admitted to practice in the United States supreme court in Washington.

Mrs. Dolly Lee Butler, Atlanta attorney, has been admitted to practice in the United States supreme court in Washington upon being presented for admission by Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, and Representative Hattin W. Summers, of Texas, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

She also was admitted to practice in the United States court of claims on motion of Leura Berrien, past president of the National Association of Women Lawyers.

In addition to her prominence in law, Mrs. Butler is active in the Atlanta Woman's Club and other civic organizations. She recently assisted Major R. W. Chandler in the local civilian defense organization. She is president of the Georgia legislative council.

House Passes Treasury, Post Office Finance Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A $1,112,926,899 appropriations bill to finance the Treasury and Post Office Departments for fiscal 1943 was passed by the house today on voice vote.

The measure carried $209,956,976 for the Treasury Department and $902,969,923 for the Post Office Department.

The total represented an increase of $25,604,633 over the allotments for the current fiscal year, ending June 30.

An attempt to nullify the silver-purchasing act of 1934, made in an amendment to the bill by Representative Dirksen, Republican, Illinois, was defeated by two votes, 55 to 53.

De Sales Harrison Family To Move to Chattanooga

By SALLY FORTH.

ATLANTA FRIENDS, and they are legion, will reluctantly bid good-bye to the De Sales Harrisons when they depart the middle of February to establish residence in Chattanooga. Virginia and De Sales have leased the Lee Read home on Lookout Mountain and just as soon as a bit of painting is finished on the interior, the house will be in readiness for the Harrison family, who will form a charming addition to social circles in the Tennessee city.

Virginia and De Sales and their four children have been an integral part of the social life in Atlanta and contributed much to cultural and civic circles as well. Virginia belongs to the Junior League and her name will add luster to the Chattanooga unit when she transfers her membership to that organization's roster.

The junior De Sales Harrison is a student at Episcopal High school at Alexandria, Va., and will spend his vacation periods with his parents in Chattanooga. Fourteen-year-old Virginia, the elder daughter and namesake of her attractive mother, will enjoy belatedness in the sub-set of society. Eight-year-old Pegram is in the primary school boy set. Nancy is the six-month-old baby in the family.

The senior Virginia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Pegram, of Atlanta, and is descended from distinguished Virginia and Tennessee forebears. Her mother is the former Susie Wright, of Memphis, Tenn. Mr. Pegram, a native of Virginia, is the popular vice president of the Southern Railway.

Needless to say, Virginia and De Sales will fit into any part of the life into which their pathways lead them in Chattanooga. They will be greatly missed in the circles in which they moved in Atlanta, the city which releases claim upon them temporarily, because the hope remains that they eventually will come "back home again."

IT IS indeed gratifying to learn that May and Francis Abreu are preparing to close South Wind, their home at Sea Island Beach, and are coming to Atlanta in the not-too-distant future. In fact, May and Francis expect to be at their West Paces Ferry road residence for several months and the news is being joyfully received by their Atlanta friends.

Ever since their marriage three years ago, they have lived in their seashore home, one of the handsomest and architecturally beautiful homes at Sea Island. Francis, a well-known and exceptionally talented architect, will retain his office in Brunswick, and will make frequent trips there to attend to his work. May will plunge into defense work just as soon as she reaches Atlanta, for she has been invited to serve on Mrs. Trammell Scott's committee which is engaged in working out defense plans.

If you would like your Sunday dinner to take on added interest, call Mrs. Wilmer Dutton and tell her how many students from the Naval Air Base you would like as your guests. Mrs. Dutton's number is Hemlock 1467, and today is the deadline for reporting the number of guests to her.

LOVELY Margaret Chenoweth, of Birmingham, whose engagement to Von Gehrig, of Chattanooga, was one of the most important betrothal announcements of the midwinter season, plans to be married on March 7.

Margaret and Von, however, cannot be definite as to the place of their marriage, pending Von's orders from Uncle Sam. The groom-elect, you see, will be graduated on March 6 from Randolph Field with the rank of lieutenant in the Army Air Corps, but his definite plans cannot be made until the last minute. Margaret, however, has already purchased her wedding gown and she can be ready at a moment's notice to be married either in Birmingham or San Antonio.

The plans are of especial interest to a number of prominent Atlantans, among whom are Mrs. Harrison Jones and Laura Hill (Mrs. Joseph) Boland, whom Margaret has frequently visited.

BARBARA BROWARD, sub-deb daughter of the Clark Browards, will be one of the visiting belles in attendance at the annual Black and White ball, which takes place on the evening of February 14 at North Carolina State College in Raleigh. The affair, which is given by the Panhellenic Council, is one of the most important events of the school year.

George Mauney will escort the popular Atlanta belle, who will be one of the loveliest figures in the grand march.

THOUGH pretty Houston Niller (Mrs. Moore) More has not resided here for the past few years, Atlanta still feels she is "one of its own." Consequently, news of her whereabouts is received here with a great deal of interest.

Houston and her doctor husband have been "on the go" since their marriage, but their present address is Pensacola, Fla. Moore, you see, is on duty with the Navy and until recently he was at sea with the Pacific fleet, while Houston resided in California.

Houston, you recall, is the

MRS. T. C. SOWELL.

Mrs. Sowell is the former Miss Pearl Betsill, whose marriage was a recent event. Mrs. Sowell is the daughter of Mrs. R. Betsill, of Jonesboro, Ga., where she and Mr. Sowell reside.

Miss MacLeod Wed To Sgt. Hughes Via Telephone

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander MacLeod announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Margaret Robert MacLeod, to Sergeant Woodrow Hughes Jr., of Northport, Ala. The ceremony was performed at noon on Friday, January 30, via long distance telephone, at the home of the bride's parents on East 48th street here. The Rev. Bonneau Dickson officiated in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple.

Mrs. Hughes, the youngest daughter of her parents, is a graduate of Savannah High school and is now a sophomore at Armstrong Junior College.

Sergeant Hughes is a graduate of Ponce de Leon High school in Florida. Later he completed a course in photography in the United States Army Air Corps Technical school in Denver, Col. At present he is on foreign duty with the United States Army. His bride will continue to reside with her parents and will complete her studies at Armstrong College.

Party Is Planned At Art Museum

Among interesting events of the weekend will be the informal gathering Friday evening at the High Museum of Art when a general discussion of art will be enjoyed between 8 and 10 o'clock, followed by an informal party.

Invitations to the affair were issued yesterday by members of the membership committee of the Atlanta Art Association of which Mrs. E. Marvin Underwood is the chairman.

Honor guests will be members of the Civitan Club, and their wives. John Paschall is president of the Civitan Club.

Fernbank Forest Group To Meet Next Saturday

Mrs. Harry L. Greene, chairman of the governing board of the Fernbank Forest Association, announces the group meets on Saturday at 1 o'clock at the forest, 849 Clifton road.

Miss Hattie Rainwater, vice chairman of the governing board, will open the program with a summary of the past year's work, and Mrs. Hugh Harris, curator of the Fernbank Children's Nature Museum, will outline the museum plans for the coming year. Mrs. Arthur Tufts, member of the governing board, will tell of the current plans for a Victory Garden at Fernbank. Membership reports will be given by Mrs. Jeff Richardson, and the treasurer's statement by Mrs. Carr E. Johnston. Mrs. Fred Hodgson will discuss ways and means. Election of new board members will follow the program.

The original Fernbank committee of three which met last January has grown into a full-fledged organization of 28 board members and several hundred members. A summer nature school was conducted during 1941, the Children's Nature Museum established, the house reconstructed, and the grounds greatly improved.

Reservations for Saturday's luncheon may be made with Mrs. Arthur Tufts, Dearborn 4013, or with any of the following members of the Fernbank membership committee: Mesdames O. C. Waters, Jeff Richardson, Edward Daniel, Thomas Campbell, Erwin Catts, R. S. Pringle, H. B. Carreker or Miss Maude Rhodes.

Garden Hills Club To Meet Today.

The Garden Hills Woman's Club has gone over the top 100 per cent in national defense work as members have pledged their services in some phase of this work, including first aid, canteen, motor corp, nutrition, home nursing, map reading, knitting, sewing and surgical dressing.

The club, at its meeting to be held today at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Thomas B. Sharp, 500 Pinetree drive, will hear an inspiring talk on "Civilian Defense" by Mayor Roy LeCraw who is well qualified to talk on this subject. The various defense committee chairmen are asked to make their reports.

Thirty-two members of the club have completed their standard first aid course and many are planning to take the first aid instructor's course. The program on legislation and citizenship is under the direction of Mrs. H. A. Bennett who will introduce the speaker, Gerald Y. Smith.

The club contributed to the needle work guild $23 cash, and 80 garments, and to the Grady hospital auxiliary $25 cash, and 100 glasses of jelly.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Thomas B. Sharp, Mrs. H. A. Bennett, Mrs. C. O. Johnson, Miss Eleanor Brumlow, Mrs. Charles G. Boland, Mrs. John Burroughs, Mrs. O. F. Jackson and Mrs. Theo B. Bean.

The executive board meets at 1 o'clock at Mrs. Sharp's home. Mrs. Charles D. Ward, the president, will report on the progress of the Garden Hills clubhouse, which is under construction.

MRS. WILLIAM GROVER LAMB JR.

Miss Mary Stone Marries William Grover Lamb Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wingfield Stone announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Carter Stone, to William Grover Lamb Jr., which took place last Saturday at 4 o'clock in the study of St. Mark Methodist church. Dr. Lester Rumble performed the quiet ceremony in the presence of the families and intimate friends.

The bride wore a navy blue tulle suit with matching accessories, and a shoulder spray of white orchids.

Mrs. Lamb's mother is the former Miss Anne Gerald, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Baker Gerald, of Columbia county. Her father is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Welcome Allen Stone, of Washington, Ga.

After the bride's graduation from Stone Mountain High school, she attended the University of Georgia, where she received an A. B. degree in journalism. She is a member of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority and has done graduate work at Emory University.

Mr. Lamb is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lamb Sr., his mother is the former Miss Gladys Cook, daughter of Mrs. Tallulah A. Cook, and the late Thomas George Cook. His father is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Alfred Lamb, of Tift county.

Following the groom's graduation from North Fulton High school, he attended Emory University, where he is a member of the senior class. He is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Yearly IV, Mrs. Colquitt Carter will be chairman of the ball committee. Members unanimously elected to the committee at the meeting were Mrs. Bruce Montgomery Jr., Mrs. Gresham McCollough, and Mrs. Jack Glenn.

Mrs. Rutherford Ellis announced that the Children's Theater Group had started rehearsing for the play, "Titan," which will be presented late in February.

Mrs. Everard Richardson Jr., speech school chairman, reported that the new mimeograph machine which was donated to the school by Joseph Cooper Jr., had been ordered.

The welfare report was given by the chairman, Mrs. Joel Hunter Jr., who announced that the league had turned over the Thyroid Clinic to Grady hospital.

Miss Beverly Bailey announced four new workers at Eggleston hospital, and that the work was running on schedule.

Mrs. F. M. Bird, placement chairman, reported that of the 241 active members, 115 manned welfare jobs, and 71 members have full time defense work. Over three-fourths of the associate and sustaining members are active in some type of defense work, many holding key positions.

The defense chairman, Mrs. Russell Bellman, announced she had received a letter from the officers' quarters at Lawson General, thanking the league for a ping-pong table, which was donated by Mrs. Henry Miller. A nutrition and first aid course will be started this week. Mrs. Bellman asked that anyone having magazines to give for the recreation centers at the camps will please get in touch with her, or Mrs. Rufus Darby, co-chairman.

Mrs. McCarty announced the appointment of the nominating committee of Mrs. Joseph Cooper.

The following new transfers were introduced by Mrs. James Campbell, the corresponding secretary: Mrs. Paul P. Flowers from Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. C. McQ. Gee from St. Louis, Mo.; as an interleague member. Mrs. Henry Saylor was transferred to Savannah; Mrs. Henry Chenoweth to Jacksonville; Mrs. Dupuy Bateman to Houston, Texas, and Mrs. Henry Jarrell, an interleague member, to Oakland, Cal.

Mrs. McCarty announced the appointment of the nominating committee of Mrs. Joseph Cooper.

Mrs. Arthur H. McKean, eastern national councillor of Alpha Chi Omega, will arrive this afternoon and will be entertained by the Atlanta Alumnae at the home of Mrs. Asbury Greene on Palisades road this evening at 8 o'clock.

The alumnae met Monday at the home of Miss Charlotte Mauehagen. Officers were elected as follows: Mrs. George William Philip, president; Mrs. Elizabeth Allen, vice president; Frances Gooding Davis, treasurer; Mrs. L. B. Rusty, secretary; Mrs. R. Hurley Mitchell, Pan-Hellenic representative; alternate, Mrs. W. L. Averett.

Hints on how to be a Happy Wife

by GRACIE ALLEN

To be a happy wife, one of the first things to do, I always say, is to get married. Then—and this is important—get some Swan Soap! Look...

SWAN'S MORE FUN IN THE KITCHEN!

You can have fun faster in the kitchen if you'll suds up some Swan. It suds twice as fast as old-time floaties... even in water that's hard like anything.

HINT: You'll be happier if he does dishes with Swan.

SWAN'S MORE FUN ANYWHERE!

Try it and see, you'll love it like me. Use Swan all over the house. Swan Soap is a honey, more real soap for your money.

HINT: Here's a rifty—use Swan. It's thrifty.

Your Daughter Has a Right to Know

It is every mother's duty to tell her daughter physical facts. How much better that she learn them from you, rather than from girls her own age. In feminine hygiene, facts may be distorted, or wholly untrue. As a result, many brides use over-strong solutions of acids for the douche which can actually burn, scar and even destroy delicate tissue.

Today such risks are needless. Science has given womankind Zonite. So powerful, it kills instantly all germs and bacteria with which it comes in contact. Deodorizes—by actually destroying odors. Protects personal cleanliness. Yet! Zonite is non-caustic, non-poisonous, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles bought. Get Zonite at your drugist today.

Free Book Tells Intimate Facts. Frankly written booklet "Feminine Hygiene Today," mailed FREE, in plain wrapper. Write: Zonite, Dept. 347A, 370 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y.

Important Message to Folks Who Have

HEAD COLDS

If head is stuffed up, eyes watery, nose running or so clogged you can hardly breathe—just try a few drops of Vicks Vapo-rinol up each nostril. Then enjoy the grand relief it brings.

Va-tro-nol is so effective because it does three very important things. It (1) shrinks swollen membranes, (2) soothes irritation, (3) helps clear cold-clogged nasal passages... and thus brings relief!

If a Cold Threatens, use Va-tro-nol at first sniffle or sneeze. Helps prevent many colds from developing. Follow directions in folder.

MABEL BOWEN home-making expert, says:

"Cooking the Spry FULL FLAVOR way means compliments for the cook! I hear this constantly from women I meet at my Cooking School. For purer Spry lets natural food flavors come through FULL and true and delicious."

Mabel B. Bowen

Taste that tempting blend of molasses, brown sugar and cocoa, so FULL and rich. Purer Spry doesn't "dull" flavor as ordinary shortenings may

Of course Spry cakes are lighter cakes—tender, fine-grained, velvety, too. But the big reason why folks fairly rave about them is the way they taste! And how quickly they're mixed. Spry creams so easily. It's purer, too, and stays fresh longer. Three big extra advantages and only Spry gives all three! Change to Spry today. And be sure to come to Free Cooking School. Time and place above.

PURER ALL-VEGETABLE Spry TRIPLE-CREAMED FOR EASIER MIXING

MOLASSES COCOA CAKE

3/4 cup Spry 2 eggs, unbeaten
1 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup light molasses
1 teaspoon vanilla 1/2 cup light molasses
5 tablespoons 1 teaspoon soda
1/4 teaspoon salt 2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup brown sugar 1 cup thick sour
1 cup packed milk
Blend Spry, salt, vanilla and cocoa. Add brown sugar gradually and cream well. (Done so quickly—Spry mixes like magic!) Add eggs, singly, beating well after each addition. Add molasses and blend.
Sift soda with flour 3 times. Add flour to creamed mixture, alternately with sour milk, mixing after each addition until smooth. Bake in 10x10x2-inch Spry-greased pan in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 to 60 minutes. Frost with Vanilla Cream Frosting. See what a light, fine-grained cake Spry gives. And what a nice little saving you make compared to using expensive cake shortening!

VANILLA CREAM FROSTING

2 tablespoons Spry 8 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon butter 5 tablespoons scalded cream
1 teaspoon vanilla (about)
1/4 teaspoon salt
Blend Spry, butter, vanilla and salt. Beat in 1/2 cup sugar. Add hot cream, alternately with remaining sugar, beating well after each addition. Add only enough cream to make a nice spreading consistency. Use this delicious, easy-to-make Spry frosting for other cakes, too.

Broccoli Gets High Vitamin Rating

Broccoli is best when simply prepared.

By Sally Saver.

The produce markets now are full of broccoli, and the price is lower than at any other season. Full advantage should be taken of these facts, because broccoli is one of the deep green vegetables which are so rich in vitamins and minerals. Broccoli is new to many housewives, who are at a loss to know how to cook it. It is one of the simplest foods to prepare, and a good rule to follow is "do nothing more to it than is absolutely necessary."

To Prepare Broccoli.

Cut only the largest part of the stalk away, leaving head and stem about 5 to 7 inches long. If this stem is very large it may be split once or twice at the largest part, but not split deep enough to make it fall apart in cooking. Wash broccoli carefully, holding the heads under running water to remove grit. Then drop prepared stalks with heads into rapidly boiling salted water and boil about 10 minutes or until stems can be pierced with sharp knife. Do not overcook. When broccoli is done lift onto hot platter and pour over it a drawn-butter or other sauce. Serve immediately. It cooked in this way it will retain its bright green color. Broccoli may be served with hollandaise or mock hollandaise sauce, but simple melted butter is sufficient, or butter with a bit of lemon juice added.

Mock Hollandaise Sauce.

1/2 cup medium white sauce.
3 tablespoons butter or margarine.
1/4 teaspoon salt.
1/4 teaspoon paprika.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
2 egg yolks.

Add butter in small pieces to white sauce, stirring constantly. Add seasoning and lemon juice and stir in egg yolks. Cook with constant stirring until the sauce is smooth and thick.

Suggestions On Learning To Type

Women who can type are finding more and more jobs open to them in business and defense activities. Teach yourself to type professionally and there may be a place for you.

The touch system is used by all professional typists. It is accurate and swift. You don't waste time watching the keys!

As you learn from a simple chart, each hand has its own special "guide keys": A, S, D, F for the left hand; J, K, L and semicolon for the right hand. With your fingers lightly poised on the guide keys you're ready to reach any other key on the keyboard without looking.

First you practice typing the guide keys, striking them lightly and rhythmically one by one.

Then each finger learns to reach other keys in its territory. The "J" finger reaches for "H"; the "F" finger reaches for "G". You progress to simple words and phrases, "ask all lads," "a lad asks all." Such exercises also give you practice in listening for the bell, which warns you you're near the end of a line and so helps you keep your margins neat and even.

With tips on spacing your copy attractively, laying out business and social letters, you're on the way to becoming a full-fledged typist.

Send 15 cents (plus 1 one cent to cover cost of mailing) for our booklet, "TOUCH TYPEWRITING SELF-TEAUGHT," to Home Institute, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Today's Charm Tip.

That one person in the group who wants things her way rather than to play the crowd's way, as suggesting dancing, say, when the rest want bridge or vice versa, is too selfish and non-adaptable for a charm role.

Pattern 4002.

For that visit to grandmother's, she wants to wear her best frock! Let it be made from Pattern 4002 and stitched up daintily at home by you, Mother—she'll be so proud. On the dress in the foreground, Lillian Mae uses a gay little yoke, trimmed with self-ruffles—isn't it sweet? The side pleats begin below the yoke and a half-belt holds them in place. For this "visiting dress," simplicity is just right. . . . Make an everyday version with yokes and sleeves of contrast, trimmed with bought ruffling and with pleats top-stitched down to the waist; and for warmer weather, a little sleeveless sun-frock trimmed with buttons.

Pattern 4002 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, dress all one fabric, takes 2 1/4 yards 35-inch fabric; dress with contrast, 1 3/4 yards 35-inch fabric and 5-8 yards contrast; sun-frock, 2 yards 35-inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) for this Lillian Mae pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Your role in the 1942 picture is to be thrifty, yet look your smartest and prettiest. Let the colorful new Lillian Mae Spring Pattern Book help you plan a sew-and-save program, with its easily made, promptly available patterns for every age. Tucked beneath a miniature sailor hat is a manicure set at an interesting price. The complete set is one dollar.

Wee Sailor Hat Holds a Manicure Set

We're all Navy-minded this spring. We watch every action of our fleet. We dress in sailor dresses, trim our suits with nautical emblems, and we are charmed by a manicure set packed in a miniature sailor hat.

This fascinating package is truly a replica of a sailor's formal hat. It's made of blue serge and even has ribbon rippling down from the wee crown. Underneath this nautical regalia are tucked three nail polish, a polish famed for its long wear and beautiful colors. The second bottle is oily polish remover and the third is that grand top-coat which makes your polish dry in half the time and protects it from chipping and peeling. Remember! This is the top-coat I wrote about some time ago which almost doubles the wearing time of your polish.

Added appeal comes from the price of this neat set. Bought separately the preparations in these same sizes would cost $1.55, but the complete package costs just $1.

You have your choice of polish shades in pale, bright or dark tones. There's one rosy red color that will delight you. It makes a bright accent to go with the new spring shades and adds a cheery note to your day each time you see it on your hands.

I'll be glad to tell you where you can buy this set if you will call Winifred Ware at Walnut 6565 or write in care of The Constitution, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dick Powell Returns to the Screen To Share Crooning With Bing Crosby

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 3.—(INS)

There's one biographical story coming up at 20th Century-Fox that Don Ameche won't make. When cameras start grinding on "The Life and Loves of Edgar Allan Poe," John Shepperd will be the poetic, Moody Poe and Linda Darnell is set for his "Beautiful Annabel Lee." Young Shepperd was a hit on the New York stage under his real name, Shepperd Strudwick. Last year M-G-M brought him to Hollywood for a role in "Flight Command" and before they could sign him 10th contract.

"The Life and Loves of Edgar Allan Poe" will be Brynne Foy's first production on the 20th lot. The "Former Keeper of the B's" Brynne called himself at Warners' is certainly stepping into the A's with a vengeance with this movie. Years ago D. W. Griffith made it—which you may or may not remember.

Dick Powell is coming back to the movies. And I say it is high time! Dick puts over a song like nobody's business and apparently Buddy De Sylva thinks so, too, because he has paged Dick in New York to hurry back here for "Happy Go Lucky" with Mary Martin and Rudy Vallee. There must be plenty of crooning in this movie with both Dick and Rudy in the lineup.

Oh, I almost forgot that Mr. Vallee doesn't have to warble if he doesn't want to by terms of his new Para contract. But I'll bet he sings a ditty or two in this. I can't imagine him sitting by and letting Dick do it all.

Both Ronald Reagan on the Warner lot and Glenn Ford at Columbia have been discussed for the lead in "Humoresque," the Fanny Hurst story that won all sorts of awards when it was made by Cosmopolitan. Ronnie—and I saw enough of "King's Row" to say this with conviction—will be Warner's top male star after this picture is released. He is so good that Jack Warner has given orders that he go into only very special pictures.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Ginger Rogers has gone to her farm in Oregon but before she left she saw Jean Gabin every eve. Not since Ginger and Howard Hughes were talking marriage has she had such a romance. Her former boy friend, George Montgomery, is now dating Hedy Lamarr pretty regularly; Wendy Barrie and Peter Fairchild, the artist, the latest Hollywood duo; Barbara Hutton leaves for Florida to visit her aunt, Mrs. James Donahue, before many days; Ann Baxter, her doctors say, has been reducing too strenuously and so she is down with the flu again; Gene Tierney, who was to have left Sunday on that long-planned vacation, has been held for ten days' retakes on "Rings on Her Fingers."

POINTS FOR PARENTS

By Edythe Thomas Wallace.

Mother: "What is there in my demands on Tom that makes him lie to me? Is he afraid of punishment? Is he over anxious for my approval?"

Grandmother: "Why do you suppose he stories to you?"
Mother: "I don't care why. I'm going to wash out his mouth with soap every time he does it."

MY DAY: A Peaceful Day

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Monday.—Yesterday was a nice, peaceful day on the train. We ate a very late breakfast, during which one or two visitors dropped in—first a gentleman who wished me to send the President his very best wishes, and then a soldier boy who was trying to console himself for a dull life. He had taken a detail of men from one place to another and thought a little chat with us might relieve the monotony. A little later on a gentleman came bursting in to tell us that there was a man on board who had a piece of shell from a torpedero ship, and it was evident that being near a torpedo was no small experience.

We did much less work than usual, but got through the mail which I had not finished before leaving Washington. Then the hour arrived when we should have changed trains. We discovered that we were a whole hour late, due to a tree which had been found across the track. With this discovery, I realized I that I would be late for my broadcast, unless I found a fast method of transfer later, so I wired ahead for a car and on arrival in Flomonta, Ala., the station master's son took us in tow and in less time than it takes to tell it, we were started for Pensacola. I shall always be grateful to that young man for taking most of last afternoon to drive me to Pensacola. He told me that from now on Uncle Sam is working him seven days a week, as he works on aviation parts. He was an extraordinarily good driver, drove carefully but fast, and I walked into the broadcasting station four minutes before time to go on the air. There was a minute more delay in starting due to connections, so while I was reading they took a few more lines out of my script, but we finished exactly on time.

I really do not enjoy quite such close connections, and I suppose that, from now on, in view of the fact that there are many reasons why trains and planes should be delayed and mere civilians can be removed from either one if more important people wish to travel, I had better travel less and allow more time than in the past, or else have nothing very important to do at the end of any journey. Today is a beautiful day, but cool for this part of the world, I imagine. After a fairly early breakfast we visited Santa Rosa Island, which guards the entrance to Pensacola. With submarines playing around in so many places now, both in the Gulf and in the Atlantic, fortifications along the coast, air and sea patrols all become of much more interest than ever before.

Tom Moore a fine "SLOW MADE"

Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey

As distillers, we believe "slow-made" whiskey is a better whiskey, because it is distilled by the longer, the unhurried method that, for generations has produced Kentucky's finest, smoothest whiskeys.

Because Tom Moore is "slow-made", from carefully selected grains in Nelson County, Kentucky, we recommend it to those who appreciate fine whiskey.

Texas Ranger Defends Title In Field of 16

Tarheel Lucky Strike, Runner-Up in 1941, Is Also Back.

By JOHN MARTIN, Staff Correspondent.

ALBANY, Ga., Feb. 3.—How will the Ranger ride? That's what they were asking here today as ideal briar-sharp weather descended on All-berry and environs on the eve of the final championship, the world series of bird dogdom.

A hard-bitten field, 16 hand-picked pointers and setters, will hit the weed patches and sedge fields of the W. C. Potter and L. D. Johnson plantations tomorrow and when the first day's returns are in at least a part of the question should be answered.

The Texas Ranger last year stormed through virtually the same field to nail the first place $1,000 bill in the inaugural running of the classic on a basis of his showing two weeks ago in the Continental, which he likewise won, the Ranger was the favorite before his 15 title-laden rivals went down. By tomorrow's sundown it might be another story.

STRONG THREAT.

There is Mercer's Mill Jake looming in the Ranger's path. And Tarheel Lucky Strike, 1941 runner-up Rumson Farm Loch, Surracho, Enjoy Wahoo and the others, any one of which cannot be counted out of the cash.

Loch, Raymond Hoagland's black and white setter and national pheasant champion, will be the home side favorite, along with the Hillbilly Susannah, the glamorous of the race. It was here that Susannah changed owners, Bob Sealey to M. G. Dudley, for $2,500—two or three years ago. She was a standout the first day last year, but wilted under the heat in the stretch.

In contrast to the summery weather that scorched the course and chased the fallery down to its shirt sleeves last winter, chilling temperatures loom for the four-day event beginning at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning.

SUPERIOR WORK.

This augured high-class races and superior bird performances.

The dogs will be run in three heats, the first two lasting an hour each and the final test going two hours. Dogs running in the morning on the first day will hit the field in the afternoon of the second day, thus giving all of them an equal opportunity.

In addition to the cash award, the winner will gain a leg on the R. W. Woodruff trophy, a tall and handsome hunk of silver. Runner-up handler will be worth $500 to the spot.

WEDNESDAY'S HEATS.

1. A. M.—Rumson Farm Loch and Spunky Creek Nina.

2. Surracho and Farmwood Traveler.

3. Enjoy Wahoo and War Admiral.

4. Norris Aerodrom and Hillbilly Susannah.

5. M.—Tarheel Lucky Strike and Sully.

6. Mercer Mill Jake and Conk.

7. Lady Norris and Young Billie.

ON THE LINE With Considine

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(INS)—This is no time to start weeping over the fallen arches of baseball writers, most of whom were born with flat feet. But we'll just point out that a couple of dozen of us stood for six or eight hours outside of the American and National League conference rooms Monday, waiting for some word from within, and when at last the owners deemed it time to toss out a crumb of information we all, from force of habit, bounced on said crumb (two all-star games) and knocked out our ersatz brains on the nearest typewriter.

Which, after all, is why we're paid. But this one kept thinking, even in the rapture of creating a realm of living prose on the fact that the baseball boys were going to spend 10 per cent of their salaries on defense bonds, if they felt like it, that the papers once again were playing the part of suckers. We were stooping for the umpteenth millionth time for a soulless sports business which is doing precious little to justify its role as recipient of an astonishing blessing from the President.

CITY BASKETBALL

WALTHOUR GIRLS' LEAGUE.

Georgia Power Trojans nailed down the second-half championship of the Walthour Girls' League last night at Walthour Sports Arena by tripping Speedway Service, 28 to 16. It was the fifth straight league triumph for the Trojans and gave them a clean slate for the half. The Trojans, led by Louise Moore and eight points, respectively. Yancy stood out for Speedway with six points. Reeves, Youngblood, Chance and Howell played well on defense.

Sewell Service's Red Elephants continued on the comeback trail by defeating Brookhaven's hustling sextet, 24 to 10. Brookhaven played one of its best games and was very much in the game for the first three quarters. Catherine Wallace, one of the league's leading scorers, was high for Brookhaven with 13 points. Brownie topped Sewell's scorers with 13 points. The league's scoring champion, was held to three field goals by Chambers, of Brookhaven.

WALTHOUR BOYS' LEAGUE.

Walthour & Hood basted Hertz Drivers, 21 to 14, in a fast game. Walthour, led by Walter Hertz, won the game by a 10-point margin. C. Hill, McAlpin and Dempsey started for Hertz.

Requested Breaks Record at Hialeah

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—B. F. Whitaker's Requested broke Hialeah track record of one mile in a workout today and served notice that Alsab will be in a horse race Saturday.

Tuning up for the $5,000 Panamas Handicap, Requested went the distance in one minute, 38 2-5 seconds.

Al Sabath's Alsab did it yesterday in a minute, 38 3-5 seconds, equalling the track mark set Saturday by Whitaker's Ft-n Peace.

Hawkins Nets 19 as Auburn Nips Jackets

Tigers Even Series in Nip-and-Tuck Tiff, 43 to 38.

AUBURN, Ala., Feb. 3.—(AP)—The Auburn Plainsmen evened their score with the Georgia Tech basketball team tonight, winning, 43 to 38, in a nip-and-tuck contest.

The lead changed hands several times during the first half, but Auburn forged out in front by 19-15 at halftime. The margin was extended to 11 points midway in the second half before a Tech rally narrowed the gap.

The Plainsmen were wary of that late Engineer spurt for one last Saturday night cost them a 42-48 decision. However, in that game, Carlton Lewis, Tech guard, accounted for 20 points; tonight, by virtue of the sterling defensive work of Forward Frank Williams, he netted only five.

Shag Hawkins, Auburn's fine center, beat out his mate, Forward Frank Mancini, for individual scoring honors with 19 points, but the latter's 17 returned him to the Southeastern Conference leadership with a total of 102 markers.

Hapeville High captured a double-header from Richardson High last night with the boys coming from behind to win, 27 to 22, and the girls copping handily, 42 to 32.

Robert Crowe, who was high with 10 points, flipped in three baskets in the last three minutes to pull Hapeville ahead from a 15-15 score at the end of the third quarter in the boys' tilt. Akins had nine for Hapeville.

Hunnicut, of Hapeville, bagged 17 points to beat out Lucille Hart, who had 16 for Richardson, for high-point honors in the girls' game. Colley, with 12, and Hollis, with 10, also played well for Hapeville.

At the City Hall

Mrs. Ruby Wallace, employee of the Atlanta waterworks department, yesterday was the happiest woman in the city hall. She received a telegram, the first message from her son, Goodwyn Wallace, a sailor, since the bombing of Pearl Harbor. It read: "Am well. Don't worry."

Mayor LeCraw yesterday held on his desk all measures passed to him from Monday's meetings of city council and the aldermanic board. He is expected to begin studying them sometime today.

Members of city council's prison committee will inspect the city prison farm at noon today. The event is an annual affair, and this year may result in accelerating work on the new prison building.

Mayor LeCraw, members of the Fulton county commission and the city council yesterday were invited to attend a dinner at 12:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Community Home for Girls on Cooper street. Mrs. Elizabeth Armstrong, superintendent, issued the invitations.

H. Marshall Foote Succumbs in Savannah

H. Marshall Foote, formerly of Atlanta, died Monday at his home in Savannah, Ga.

Foote, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James G. Foote, is survived by his wife; a son, James Foote; two sisters, Mrs. E. C. Hodges, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Paul Ottis, of Columbus, Ga.; and a brother, James J. Foote, of Atlanta.

Funeral services were held yesterday in Savannah.

John B. Goodwyn, Auditor, Succumbs

John B. Goodwyn, an auditor, of 1294 Morningside drive, N. E., died last night at a private hospital, following a long illness.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Hugh S. Barnes; a sister, Mrs. Mary Farmer; four brothers, A. D., Ernest, Dr. H. J. and Dr. T. P. Goodwyn.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.
